

What Was Back of Sending Senator Bob Wagner to West Coast Strike

WASHINGTON — Behind the sudden sending of Senator Bob Wagner to the Pacific Coast as Labor Trouble Man were two factors.

One was the fact that the President, fishing in Pacific waters, has been extremely nervous about the San Francisco strike.

The other is the fact that Miss Perkins, sitting at one end of the long distance 'phone in Washington, has been equally nervous.

Both the Secretary of Labor and the President, to a certain extent are "on the spot." Miss Perkins is the first woman cabinet member in history. For her a major catastrophe like the San Francisco situation is a hard thing to live down.

Roosevelt is in somewhat the same predicament. He has given more concessions to labor than any previous President. And because of this he has been severely criticized.

For him to be on a fishing trip at this vital time could be used as good ammunition by political enemies.

As a result radios between Miss Perkins and the U. S. S. Houston have been hot and frequent. Both finally decided that a man of Wagner's prestige and ability might help the situation.

Brothers

Alabama's Representative William B. Bankhead, father of actress Tallulah and one of the few really able Democratic leaders, was reminding about campaign experience.

In 1930 Bankhead took the stump for his Senatorial brother, John H., running against "Tommy" Heflin. John and Bill toured the State together in a car.

One day, on a lonely country road, they encountered a young farmer, stopped for a chat. They introduced themselves, and Bill explained their mission, asked the native to vote for his brother. The young fellow was non-committal.

"I want you to come over and hear him talk," Bill urged. "John is talking tomorrow night in Jasper, and you don't want to miss it. He is a whole lot more capable than I am."

This last was with a disarming smile.

"Yes," was the steady reply. "That is just what my Pap says, and I reckon Pap knows what he is talkin' about."

Juvenile Judge Burns

Wall Street lost another skirmish with the Brain Boys when Judge Johnny Burns was made general counsel of the new Stock Exchange Board.

Johnny Burns — only 33 — is the youngest judge ever to serve on a superior court in Massachusetts. He is an amazing person. Like the beloved ex-Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, he jumped from a professorship in the Harvard Law School to a high court position. Recently he was mentioned as Massachusetts gubernatorial timber.

But from Wall Street's point of view, he is bad medicine. Brilliant, absolutely fair, he believes in strict regulation.

Ben Cohen, who helped write the Stock Exchange Act, had been first choice as general counsel. Russell Leffingwell, J. P. Morgan partner, paid Cohen the tribute as being the "most amazing legislative drafter" he had ever known. Wall Street was "praying" that Cohen would not take the job.

Although he yielded to these prayers, he did so to take a more important job as coordinator of Roosevelt's new social insurance plan. And Wall Street will not be one iota better off under the whip of Judge Burns.

White House Mail

No President in history has taken such pains with his tons of personal mail as Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Circleville was gripped in another hot spell Friday, with a possibility that temperatures would reach the near 100-degree mark late in the afternoon.

Yesterday's high mark was 96, the temperature having jumped better than five degrees over the previous day. Thermometers readings throughout Ohio registered five-degree increases in most cities.

SALT CREEK-TP WOMAN IS CUT

Mrs. Weaver, 26, Suffers Numerous Facial Injuries In Auto-Truck Crash.

With her face badly cut, Mrs. William Weaver, 26, who lives on the G. H. Armstrong farm, Saltcreek-twp, was in Chillicothe hospital today in a "fair" condition after a truck-truck crash east of Hallsville Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Weaver's husband had a cut on his forehead which required several stitches to close.

Dr. H. R. Brown, who is caring for Mrs. Weaver, said Friday that her right cheek is badly lacerated, her right ear cut in two and her right nostril also split. It is possible she has a fractured upper jaw.

LOST MUCH BLOOD

In addition to her disfiguring cuts Mrs. Weaver lost much blood. Weaver's model T Ford collided with the Pure Oil pick-up truck operated by Russell E. McCord, 27, at the intersection on the Walnut creek road and the Marietta-pk, east of Hallsville. The impact overturned both automobiles. McCord was driving west on the Marietta road and Weaver was going north on the Walnut creek road.

The view of intersection was reported obscured by standing corn and fence rows.

Weaver and his wife were taken to Dr. Hemmeger's office at Adelphi and were then removed to the Chillicothe hospital by Jap Baker, Hallsville garage man. McCord was not badly hurt.

The Weavers were returning home after hunting blackberries.

POLICE CATCH 'RED' LEADERS

Four Men, Woman Arrested; Believed Planning Communist Effort On Coast.

Captured were Harry Jackson, said to be one of the three most powerful Communist organizers in America; John Rogers, "seaman"; Joseph Wilson, Harry Provost and Elaine Black.

They were found in Jackson's home, the police said, planning a "comeback" for the broken Communist movement in the United States. He was sent to jail last week for an aftermath of the general strike.

Jackson appeared before the President's mediation board here as a spokesman for a Marine Communist organization.

The woman is secretary of the International Labor Defense and is said to have furnished the funds to promote Communist activities in the San Francisco area.

Wilson said he is secretary of District 13 for the Communist movement in the United States. He was sent to jail last week for contempt of court after writing a municipal judge sharp letters concerning the strike.

PORTLAND TENSE

PORTLAND, Ore., July 20.—A tense situation had been created here today by the mobilization of 1,000 members of the Oregon national guard for duty in connection with the waterfront strike.

Gov. Julius L. Meier ordered the guardsmen mobilized at Camp Withycomb, 15 miles south of here, as a precautionary move after being notified by waterfront employers of their intention to open the port on a widespread scale.

Interest centered on whether the mobilization would affect an agreement made by union leaders with Senator Robert F. Wagner of New York, federal conciliator, to withhold plans for a general strike while the senator sought a settlement of the waterfront strike in San Francisco. He was to leave for the south today.

COUNTY AGAIN GAINS RELIEF; IRWIN OKEHED

Brought Announces County Returned to State, Federal Program

BUDGETS APPROVED

Conferences Lead to Agreement Between All

COLUMBUS, July 20.—Restoration of Pickaway-co as a unit in the Ohio State and federal relief set-up, and approval of the appointment of Howard S. Irwin of Circleville as the county relief director, were announced today by the state relief commission.

Irwin was selected by the Pickaway-co commissioners.

The relief commission also has authorized the expenditure of $2,501.25 for direct relief and $1,200 for the works division program in Pickaway-co during the balance of July, it was stated.

FOLLOWED CONFAB

The commission's action followed several conferences between Major E. O. Braught, executive director, and the Pickaway-co commissioners, and was based upon Braught's recommendations.

On June 27, the commission announced that it would remove all its activities from Pickaway-co at the end of June. As a result of the commission's decision, no allotment of relief funds was made to the county when July budgets were prepared.

The commission's decision to withdraw all relief activity from the county was based upon the disclosure by a state examiner that $16,888 of state relief funds had been improperly diverted by the Pickaway-co commissioners to the general and poor infirmity funds of the county. There was absolutely no criminal illegality about the transfer, however.

Before withdrawing its program from the county, the commission notified the Pickaway commissioners that aid from the state relief administration to needy persons in the county would depend upon restoration of the monies to the relief fund.

FOLLOWING RITES

The commission required in addition, it was pointed out, that the commissioners agree to abide by the rules and federal relief administration, including the stipulation that relief fund expenditures must be approved by the state relief commission.

The diverted monies have been returned to the relief funds and the commissioners have consented to co-operate fully with the state relief administration, Braught said.

ACTOR AND LADY ASHLEY CHARGED WITH MISCONDUCT

LONDON, July 20.—Further charges of misconduct were filed against Douglas Fairbanks, American film star, and Lady Ashley, former actress, in a supplementary divorce petition presented today by solicitors for Lord Ashley.

It is understood the charges have to do with alleged association between Fairbanks and Lady Ashley since the original divorce petition was filed.

Fairbanks and Lady Ashley are now at Monte Carlo where they have been frequently seen together. The Ashley divorce suit is scheduled for hearing in October.

The new charges, it is understood, deal with Fairbanks' alleged association with the beautiful Lady Ashley while he was engaged in making the film, "The Private Life of Don Juan," at Elstree. He has maintained a magnificent estate at North Mimms, near Elstree, which he rented for $750 weekly.

DROUTH AGAIN IN NORTHWEST

Scorching Sun Sends Mercury Over 100 Mark; Heat Belt Is Widespread.

CHICAGO, July 20.—Scorching, record-breaking heat held sway over the plains states today, deepening the tragedy of drouth.

Human suffering was intense and crop damage widespread in temperatures that ranged above the 100 degree level in several states. At Knoxville, Ia., the mercury yesterday climbed to 113 degrees.

According to the official weather forecast there was little hope for relief within the next 48 hours.

A baking sun and scorching winds from the south-west intensified the already acute drouth conditions that prevail in the agricultural middle west. Herds of thirsting cattle were dying. Crops withered to destruction in dusty fields that farmers have deemed too dry for cultivation.

Chicago's millions suffered with an official reading of 96 degrees which was made more intense by unusual humidity. An estimated 300,000 persons were driven to Lake Michigan for relief from the heat here, many of them remaining throughout the night as the mercury held in the lower 90's.

The heat belt was widespread, extending as far westward as the Rocky mountains where Denver, Colo., reported 100 degree readings. At Miles City, Mont., and Havre, Mont. the mercury hit 104.

Omaha, Neb., reported a maximum temperature of 110, just short of the all-time record. Sioux City, Ia., had a reading of 106; Des Moines, Ia., 105; Springfield, Mo., and St. Louis, 102; Topeka, Kan., 105, and Springfield, Ill., 100.

Water supplies of many cities were nearing exhaustion due to the increasing deficiency of rainfall. There was no more water to be had in Creston, Ia., where citizens were forced to rely on Council Bluffs for their supply.

GENERAL WALKOUT IS ENDED

Mediators, Headed by Johnson, Seek End of Shoreman's Strike

TROOPS TO LEAVE

Trouble in Portland Now Holds Attention

By JAMES L. KILGALEN
SAN FRANCISCO, July 20.—(INS.)—With the hectic, four-day general strike declared off, industrial clouds lifted in the San Francisco bay district today as 122,000 union workers went back to their jobs and swung the city back to its normal pace of activity.

Encouraged by this development, mediators were striving to effect a settlement of the waterfront walkout which brought about the sympathetic general strike. The wheels of business whirled again. San Francisco had taken an estimated loss of $150,000,000 and was glad to get going once more after having been shackled for four eventful, never-to-be-forgotten days.

The wheels of business whirled again. San Francisco had taken an estimated loss of $150,000,000 and was glad to get going once more after having been shackled for four eventful, never-to-be-forgotten days.

BACK TO NORMAL

Theaters were open, taxicabs running, hotels and barber shops operating as usual and the big department stores doing a rush business. The ominous quiet of a few days ago had given way to the joyful clamor and bustle of this typical American city swinging back to normal.

National guard troops—ordered here to protect life and property—were expected to be withdrawn shortly. More than 5,000 officers and men on duty on the San Francisco and Oakland waterfronts awaited instructions to depart. At Sacramento, the state capital, Acting Gov. Frank F. Merriam after a conference with Adjutant General Seth E. Howard of the California national guard, decided that the first units will be recalled at once if no further complications develop.

Attention in San Francisco was focused today on two points where strikes still exist—the Market street railways and the waterfront. The railway company ran cars on three lines yesterday to avoid possible violence. The company planned to put an additional 100 cars in operation this morning.

The movement to settle San Francisco's waterfront strike, which has been in progress since May 9, proceeded with mediators in a hopeful frame of mind. General Hugh S. Johnson, NRA administrator who is on the scene acting as spokesman for the National Longshoremen's board, radioed President Roosevelt, "I thought the 'whole situation' should be settled within twenty-four hours."

Johnson planned to take time out to make a quick flight to Los Angeles today, where he was scheduled to make a speech in the Hollywood bowl.

Senator Robert F. Wagner of New York was expected to arrive in San Francisco today from Portland, where he has been active smoothing over labor difficulties.

The situation in Portland, however, still was menacing. Gov. Julius L. Meier has ordered the Oregon national guard to mobilize to protect life and property in the event of strife. The governor had been notified that waterfront employers at Portland intend to open that port to commerce regardless of the longshoremen's strike in progress there.

In the east bay district, including Oakland, Berkeley, Alameda and several other smaller communities 107 unions went back to work this morning. Forty-seven thousand workers were affected. Street car transportation on the Key system lines was resumed. In Oakland, the labor "strategy committee" for Alameda-co voted unanimously last night to end the general strike at once.

While the labor vote calling off the strike was close it was enough to demonstrate that the conservative union leaders were in control of their organizations.

Justice Officials May Fingerprint All Nation

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Eventual fingerprinting of all persons in the United States to afford a perfect identification system was visualized today by department of justice officials.

In discussing the department's identification bureau, which contains more than 4,400,000 fingerprints, mostly of law violators, Attorney General Cummings declared the system "is bound to grow."

Thousands of persons disappear annually, vanishing into a port of missing men and women, to a large extent because of the inability to identify those who have lost their memory—either voluntarily or involuntarily—as victims of accidents, or of disease.

TASK DIFFICULT

While admitting the difficulty of such an undertaking and that the public must be educated to such a project, officials said it is not beyond the realm of possibility.

Such a record would form an invaluable aid to law enforcement officers as well as in cases where no criminal activities are involved.

The investigation unit of the justice department has the largest file of fingerprints in the world. In addition there are thousands of prints of suspects picked up by police throughout the country, later found to be innocent. The war and navy departments have a tremendous file of fingerprints of past and present members of the military establishment.

Discussing the department's identification unit Cummings said that criminals were classified as to crimes committed and technique of operation. Several thousand records of kidnappers, bank robbers, extortionists and other offenders against the federal law have been segregated.

No Snow Houses for Eskimos

The only snow houses, or igloos, viewed by the majority of Eskimos, have been those portrayed by motion pictures, says G. R. Turner in the Kansas City Times. In North America and Greenland there are approximately 30,000 Eskimos, three-fourths of whom have never seen a snow house, and of these only a fractional number have ever spent a winter in one. In summer most Eskimos live in tents made by stretching skins over poles, and in winter they usually dwell in houses made of turf or earth laid on a framework of driftwood or whale ribs. The igloo, or snow house, is constructed chiefly by hunters.

Hot Weather Specials

Are you the sort of person who says, "I just don't feel like eating these hot days. The heat just robs me of my energy and appetite!" That will never do. If you are short on energy, you must remember that your body requires energy foods as much in the summer as in the cooler months. Salad foods provide the energy without the excessive calories that chiefly produce heat.

Let some of these selected recipes tempt lagging appetites. They should go far!

How About "Eggs in Pepper Rings"?

Wash, seed and cut large green peppers into half-inch rings and place a ring into each cup of a muffin tin. Add butter, a dash of mustard, a few drops of lemon juice, a drop or two of worcestershire sauce and a tablespoon of cream. Drop a whole egg, unbroken, into the ring. Add salt and pepper, and a coating of grated cheese. Place in the oven and cover with a pan lid if possible. Bake slowly 10 to 15 minutes until the eggs are firm, but not hard. This idea is a challenge to your ingenuity. Try a curl of bacon over the egg, a slice of firm tomato under it or some other combination that occurs to you as being good.

Frozen Tennessee Salad

1/2 C. sugar 1/4 C. whipping cream
2 Tbsp. flour 1 C. pineapple, sliced
1/4 tsp. salt 1 C. white cherries
1 egg yolk 1/4 C. blanched almonds
1/2 C. lemon juice
1/2 C. pineapple juice

Heat lemon and pineapple juice in a double boiler. Blend sugar, flour, and salt in egg yolk. Add this mixture to the heated juices, and cook to the consistency of boiled dressing. Chill with ice cubes. Whip cream. Fold the cooled, cooked ingredients into the whipped cream; lastly, fold in the fruit and nuts, which have been chopped. Freeze in the trays of an automatic refrigerator about 3 hours. Serve on lettuce with or without mayonnaise.

Vanderbilt Salad

On a lettuce cup place a slice of canned pineapple; cover with equal quantities of orange and grapefruit sections that have been sweetened with a small portion of powdered sugar. Serve with a heap of whipped cream salad dressing and sprinkle the top with chopped nuts. The whipped cream salad dressing is made with 1 cup double cream whipped, 1/4 teaspoon paprika, 1/4 teaspoon salt and 2 table-spoons of lemon juice, blended together.

Eggs Poached in Tomato Soup

For a luncheon dish, the recipe given here offers another way to add tomato to the menu. Use this proportion for six servings:

1 tsp. sugar
3/4 C. cold water
1 1/2 C. tomato soup

Heat ingredients to boiling point in a shallow pan. Reduce heat slightly, drop the eggs carefully into the mixture and cook until firm. Be careful that the liquid does not return to the boiling point or the eggs will toughen. Place six rounds of toast on a hot platter and, as each egg is cooked, remove it to a toast slice. When all are done, pour the soup over them and serve at once.

Note from the magazine Asia. "The leg rowers of the lovely Inle lake in the southern Shan states of Burma propel a boat with great power and perfect control by standing on one leg and entwining the other around the paddle for the stroke, which is circular in action, with the sharp finish so characteristic of the good waterman. It is not, of course, rowing with the leg, but with the whole weight of the body, as in all effective propulsion. The leg around the paddle acts only as a link between the body and the oar. The oarsmen use either leg, leaving one hand free to hold a parasol or fishing spear."

Weight of Brains

Generally speaking, the male human brain weighs more than the female, although the relative weights of the brain and body are about the same. The average weight of the male brain is about forty-eight ounces and the female brain forty-three ounces. The human brain is heavier than that of any animal in proportion to his size. Whales have the largest brains.

Ohio's Luck

Ohio came very near being given one of these high-sounding titles: Sylvania Michiganiana, Polypotamica or Pelispia. These names were suggested by Thomas Jefferson, who as chairman of a congressional committee, proposed a plan for the government of the Northwest territory.

EXPECT SPEED NEAR 300 MI. IN AIR EVENT

Thompson Trophy Race of
Cleveland Air Show To Be
Usual Feature.

CLEVELAND, July 20.—Speed approaching 300 miles an hour can be expected at the annual renewal of the Thompson Trophy 100-mile race-for-all at the National Air races here Labor Day, in the opinion of expert aviation engineers. They base their opinions on speed increases shown since 100-mile closed course races were inaugurated.

In 1929 Doug Davis astonished the aviation world by averaging 194 miles per hour in the 100-mile race-for-all. In 1930 the late "Speed" Holman won with an average of 201 m. p. h. and in 1931 the late Lowell Bayles set a new mark of 236 m. p. h. The record is held by "Jimmy" Doolittle who averaged 252.686 m. p. h. winning in 1932. Last year the late J. R. Wedell, who was awarded the trophy, failed to equal the Doolittle mark, averaging only 237.952 m. p. h. C. Roscoe Turner who finished first but was disqualified averaged 241.031 m. p. h.

NEW CRAFT PREPARED
But newly streamlined aircraft with supercharged motors and constructed to withstand the terrific speed are being prepared for the 1934 classic and there are intrepid pilots who are determined that the Doolittle mark must be beaten.

To participate in this event entrants must set up an average of 225 m. p. h. in qualifying dashes. There are many airplanes in this country capable of this but to maintain a speed much in excess of that for 100 miles is a real task for a pilot.

This year the Thompson race will be flown over a five mile course. This will mean spectators will see the competing pilots flash past the grandstand twenty times of but ten as when the race is over a ten mile course.

CANNING PEACHES

A recent survey of Government statistics show that the late peach crop is a near failure this year. Most of commercial shipping peaches to be used for canning purposes will come from principally four southern states.

Georgia estimates a crop of 6,000 cars; Arkansas, 2,500 cars; Tennessee, 1,500 cars; North and South Carolina, 1,200 cars; and Illinois, 600 cars. These peaches will be shipped between July 15 and 25, and will constitute approximately 85 per cent of all peaches shipped, with the exception of California.

New Jersey, Delaware, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Indiana, and Ohio will have practically few or no peaches of any importance this year, due to the extreme cold weather from last winter, and the housewife that anticipates canning peaches will be forced to purchase in the next few weeks, as late peaches are practically a total failure.

Mrs. Geo. Thurn Gives Good Chicken And Meat Dishes For Entertaining

Dear Friends in Circleville:

These summer days mean, that for some of us, at least, we have a little more time to visit with our friends and neighbors than when the rush of winter duties sits so heavily upon us. A "company" dinner in summer need be no more burdensome than the more elaborate affairs of cold weather; in fact it should be less trouble, for at this season the delicacies from our refrigerator may make up half or more than half of the menu.

But the main dish, for most dinners, especially when there are men guests, should be a hot dish. I have selected these unusual recipes, some of which never have been printed before, for summer entertainment menus. Don't be afraid to use sugar in meat cookery, especially for summer, for with the more active lives we are apt to lead in swimming and other sports, we need more of the energizing foods. Sugar improves flavor!

Here's a good example of a main dish which is nourishing.

Chicken with Fruits

One roasting fowl, cleaned for stuffing; three cups bread crumbs; one fourth cup melted butter; one teaspoon salt; one tablespoon sugar; one eighth teaspoon pepper; one cup freshly made apple sauce; one half cup steamed, mashed prunes; one half cup chopped nut meats.

Stuff the fruit and crumbs, sugar and butter mixture into the fowl, place in a roasting pan and rub with softened shortening mixed to a paste with flour, salt, sugar and pepper, using about one teaspoon of salt, one tablespoon of sugar and one fourth teaspoon of pepper. Place the bird breast down in the pan, and set in a hot oven, 450 degrees, for fifteen minutes. Then add a cup of boiling water, lower the heat a little, and cook for one hour. Turn the bird over, baste with the juices in the pan, and finish roasting, until evenly golden all over. Make the gravy in the fat in the pan. A delicious addition to this is a garnish of sliced preserved peaches.

Lamb with Peas

A shoulder of lamb, boned, and with a pocket cut in it for stuffing. One cup fresh veal, run through the grinder; one fourth cup salt pork also chopped; one and one half cups bread crumbs; one half teaspoon salt; one teaspoon sugar; one fourth teaspoon pepper; one teaspoon chopped parsley; one teaspoon chopped onion; one tablespoon flour; one teaspoon salt; one teaspoon sugar; one fourth teaspoon paprika; one can of canned peas.

Mix veal, pork, bread crumbs, one half teaspoon salt, one teaspoon sugar, the pepper and chopped parsley and onion. Stuff into the pocket of the roast. Tie in shape, and rub the surface with a mixture made of the two tablespoons of flour, one teaspoon of salt and sugar with the paprika. Place in a hot oven, 400 degrees, but do not cover. Twenty minutes before the end of the roasting, surround with halves of canned peas which have been dipped in flour and granulated sugar. Brown the peas right in the roasting pan and serve them as a garnish around the meat. Make a gravy from the fat and fruit juices in the pan, and adding some of the juice of the peas, with one teaspoon lemon juice added as well as the usual seasonings.

Club Chops

Have two chops for each guest; season with salt and pepper, place on each one a slice of onion, a slice of tomato, and a teaspoon of minced green pepper and parsley. Sprinkle with salt, pepper and sugar. Cover each with a tablespoon of buttered crumbs. Bake in a hot oven, 400 degrees, until the chops are tender.

Chicken Venetian Style

Cut a young chicken into halves, and flatten each piece with a heavy knife or cleaver. Saute in butter until well browned, turning from time to time. When well covered, place in a pot and cover with two cups vegetables or meat stock or bouillon; add pepper and salt, and a tablespoon of sugar; two sprigs parsley, a small bunch of fine celery stems from the top of the stalk. Simmer gently for one and a half hours and let the sauce reduce. Lay the pieces in a deep baking dish.

Thicken the sauce in the pot with flour, stir smoothly, and pour over the chicken. Cover with a layer of grated cheese, dot with butter and brown in the oven. Serve in the same dish. Garnish with little rice croquettes each containing a spoonful of marmalade in its center.

Fillet of Mutton Milanaise
Six filets of lamb on mutton. One cup macaroni broken in small pieces for cooking; one half cup lean cooked ham; one cup tomatoes; two tablespoons butter; two tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese; one beaten egg; one half to one cup bread crumbs, mashed potatoes; salt, pepper, sugar and paprika for seasoning.

Dip the filets in the beaten egg, then roll in crumbs. Brown in hot fat on both sides, and put in a dish in the oven to keep hot until the sauce is ready.

Cook the macaroni in boiling, salted water, drain, combine with the tomatoes. Cut the ham in fine strips like matches, and add to the tomato and macaroni mixture. Turn into a saucepan in which the butter has melted, and shake gently over the fire until hot. Season with salt, pepper and one teaspoon of sugar. Serve the macaroni in the center of a large dish, arranging the hot filets around it. Sprinkle all with the cheese and serve at once.

Salmon Recipes for Summer Menus

A economical and nourishing luncheon or dinner main dish is easily made with canned salmon. For instance this:

Swedish Baked Salmon

One pound can salmon, shredded, cleaned of skin and bones; two tablespoons flour; two tablespoons olive oil; one or two large onions thinly sliced; one cup thin slices raw potato. Rub a baking dish with butter, and cover the bottom with salmon, sprinkle with flour and oil, then cover with a layer of onions and potato; repeat with salmon, onions, and potato; pour the salmon juice over all with just enough milk added to moisten the contents of the dish. Dot with bits of butter. Bake for one hour in a moderate oven, 350 degrees. Crumbs added to the top make a delicious addition.

Casserole of Salmon

One pound can salmon; six small potatoes, diced; one green pepper parboiled and cut in thin strips; two canned pimientos, cut in thin strips; two hard cooked eggs cut in thin slices; one cup thin white sauce; two tablespoons chopped parsley; two tablespoons chopped chives; four tablespoons bread crumbs; four tablespoons melted butter.

Leave salmon in large pieces in the casserole but remove bones and skin, add potatoes, pepper, parsley, chives, pimientos and eggs, and mix lightly. Over this mixture pour the white sauce, sprinkle with bread crumbs and then melted butter. Bake about thirty minutes in a hot oven, 400 degrees.

Salmon Cutlet

Three tablespoons flour; four tablespoons butter; one cup hot milk; one pound canned salmon, freed of bones and skin; fat for deep frying.

Flake the salmon, add flour, butter and milk and stir together over heat until thick. Let cool. Shape into cutlets, roll in flour, then in beaten egg yolk, dipped then lower in a frying basket into deep, hot fat. Serve with tomato sauce, or cheese sauce.

Green Tomatoes and Salmon
Green tomatoes sliced very thin, are dipped in a thin mixture of flaked salmon with one beaten egg and cracker crumbs. Salt and pepper each slice; lower in deep hot fat, fry to delicate brown. Delicious with or without a sauce.

Croquettes Supreme

One cup cooked rice; two un-

Serve Waffles for Porch Suppers

To serve with waffles, made on the porch with one of the modern electric irons, combine vanilla ice cream and stewed fresh cherries; peach ice cream and fresh, sliced peaches; chocolate ice cream and chocolate sauce; lemon ice cream and orange sauce; and crushed, fresh berries or fruit with custard sauce. These combinations make delightful summer desserts when the luncheon has been light.

Or if the Waffle is intended for a main dish, serve with it creamed chicken or creamed tuna fish; creamed dried beef; creamed left over vegetables; or cheese sauce and left over vegetables.

Waffles for Six

Two cups flour; three teaspoons baking powder; one half teaspoon salt; two eggs; one and one half cups milk; four tablespoons melted shortening. Sift the flour and baking powder and salt together. Beat the eggs until light, blend with the milk and add to the dry mixture. Then add the melted shortening to this mixture. Pour onto the hot waffle iron, according to directions with the iron, and brown until crisp. This makes six good sized waffles.

NEW TOWN SEAL

LEXINGTON, Mass.—While the year 1775 is an historic one in town annals, the year 1934 must henceforth be considered as marking a change in the slumbering life of this little hamlet for the town fathers have decided to change the seal. The old seal depicted a farmer with a gun and powder horn. The new one will be a replica of the famous Lexington Minute Man statue.

PASSENGER CARS SHOW INCREASE IN FIRST PERIOD

Report of passenger car registrations for the first quarter of 1934 shows an increase over last year in number of registrations and revenue in every class except vehicles having more than 36 horsepower, which requires a $25 registration fee, Registrar Frank West announced.

This $25 registration class consists of the larger types of cars, such as Pierce Arrows, Cadillacs and Lincolns, several models of Chryslers, Franklins, Packards, at least one make of Hupmobiles, Auburns and Studebakers.

A total of 1,163,413 passenger cars were registered during the first quarter of the present year, resulting in a total revenue of $10,404,177, an increase of 6.67 per cent in number of registrations and 8.10 per cent in revenue. In the first quarter of 1933, 1,092,475 cars were registered and $9,624,419 taken in by the bureau. The total increase over 1933 figures is 70,938 in number of vehicles and $779,758.00 in revenue.

Passenger vehicles requiring $20 license fees gained 27.32 per cent, showing that more people in Ohio are either using their large cars again or putting more money in new automobiles.

Motorcycle registrations picked up 4.88 per cent during the first quarter of the present year, 320 more being registered in 1934 than in 1933, bringing the total registration for the present year to 2,256.

4-H CLUB MEETS

The Buckeye 4-H club met at the Muhlenberg-Twp school Wednesday. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mary Reid.

It was decided by the club to hold a picnic at Logan Elm, Wednesday, July 25. Each member is asked to bring a basket.

The club had a visitor, Miss Alice Lacey of Marietta.

The meeting adjourned until Wednesday, Aug. 1. Refreshments were served by Miss Gene Fullen. Mrs. Pinkerton was appointed on the refreshment committee for the next meeting.

CLEVELAND—Cleveland's Metropolitan Park system may go without any support at all from taxes next year. No provision for appropriations for its board has been made. The system which embraces 10,112 acres and serves over 5,000,000 people yearly, was hard put to operate on a budget of $66,000 during the past year.

YOUNGSTOWN—"Texas Slim" Collins and his wife "Montana Nell" have purchased a home here and intend to settle down in a short time at truck farming after 37 years on the road. "Texas Slim" runs the Texas Wonder Show, which features bull-whip nicties, western wonders and knife-throwing.

Insull Trial Date Set

SEVERAL months ago, Samuel Insull, Sr., was brought back from Europe to face criminal charges growing out of the collapse of his industrial empire. Much energy had been shown by the government in trying to get its hands on him. His arrest and return were accomplished at considerable public expense.

The circumstances called for a prompt trial and there was a general demand that the case be brought to a hearing promptly in order to satisfy the requirements of justice.

Dilatory steps of one kind or another immediately were undertaken by attorneys for the accused man. The result has been that the case has not yet been brought to trial.

Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson in Chicago the other day, however, over-ruled a motion for a bill of particulars, described as the last of the dilatory pleas, and fixed September 18 as the date for the trial to begin. The specific charge is that of using the mails to defraud, 16 others being accused with Insull.

The resourcefulness of attorneys skilled in dilatory tactics makes it still uncertain if the trial actually will begin on the date set.

Delay in the administration of justice generally is blamed as an important factor in the high rate of lawlessness that prevails in the United States. To permit the Insull case to drag along unnecessarily would prove discouraging to those seeking to eliminate this. It is time for the case to be disposed of. Judge Wilkerson was promoting the ends of justice and rendering a highly valuable public service by seeing that the case comes to trial as quickly as fairness to the defendant will permit. It seems that his attorneys have had sufficient time to prepare their defense. If so, apparently there can be no justification for further delay.

The married seem like a team of horses. The thing that separates the team is the tongue.

Inflation Again

IT is becoming increasingly evident that a new drive for currency inflation is getting under way, with a strong probability that the question soon again will be squarely confronting the President.

Mr. Roosevelt so far has been able to evade the issue or to escape its full force by making slight concessions to the inflationists. The latter, however, are not satisfied with any gains they may have made and are bent on winning a complete victory. They are divided into two groups. One element wants the President to advance the price of gold around $35, its present peg, to $42, the maximum authorized by the congress. The other wants a huge issue of greenback silver certificates.

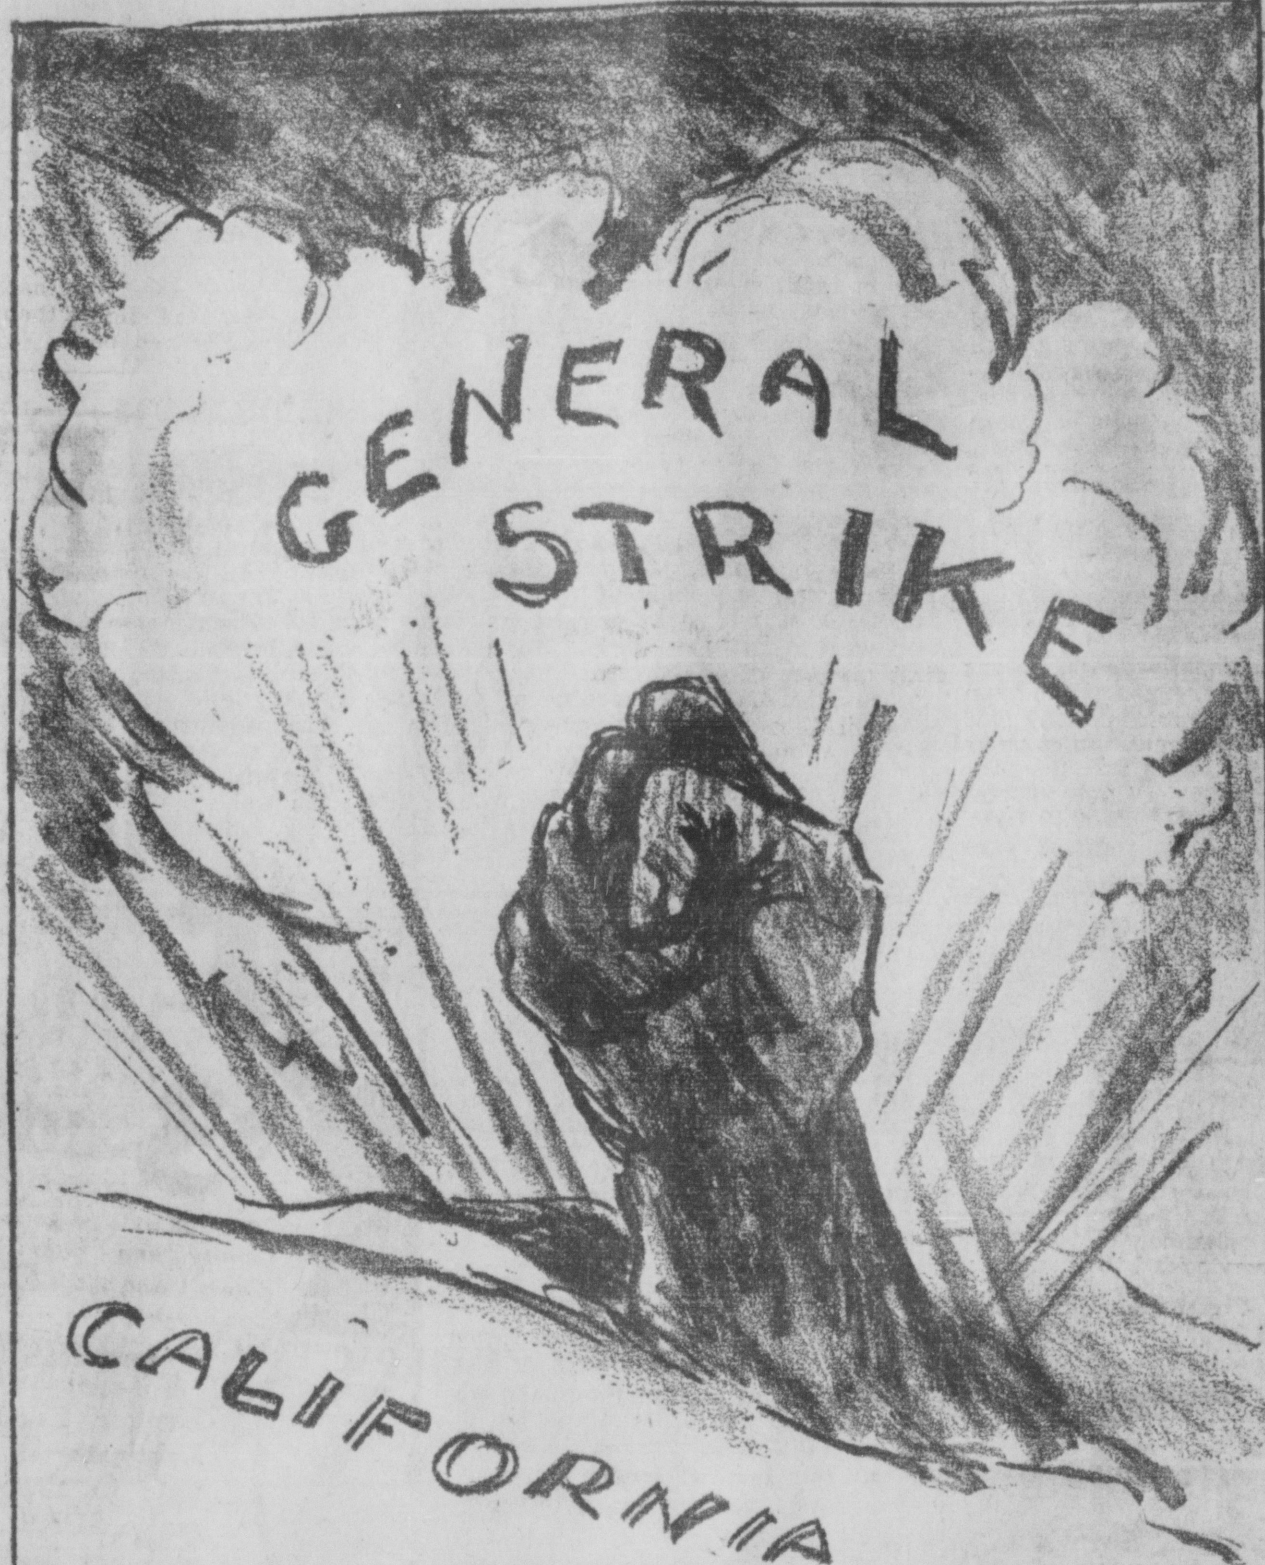

That the president is inclined to take neither step is a conclusion easily drawn from his failure so far to move in either direction. He apparently feels that both proposals are unsound. This will not prevent their proponents from pressing their cause to the limit. What the limit may be remains to be seen. The administration's present monetary policy embraces many uncertainties. The inflationists can be depended upon to take every possible advantage of this fact. They are arguing now that the administration is planning to tie the American dollar to the British pound. The visit of Governor Harrison of the federal reserve bank of New York to London is cited as evidence, although there have been no definite developments to justify such an interpretation of his trip.

Revival of the inflation issue, should the movement reach form, would have an unfavorable effect upon business. A frank statement from the president indicating he had no intention of yielding and giving the reasons for his stand would prove a powerful counteractant to the inflationists' activities.

All Quiet on the Western Front?

"THE LONE WOLF'S SON"

by LOUIS JOSEPH VANCE

CHAPTER XXIX

As if waiting to be impounded, Plon held up on that, his head a little to one side, leaden features twisted by what Lanyard to his horror recognized as a twinkle of elfin mischief.

"Lord have mercy!" he groaned. "Have I come to this, then, in my old age? Is the Lone Wolf fallen so low that a policeman must be playful with him?"

"Monsieur is incredulous? That is not to be wondered at. It is asking much of him, truly, to believe that Plon of the Sûreté has, toward the end of a career of unblemished integrity, turned thief—and not only that, but is proud of it! Very well: since you find what I tell you so difficult to credit, be so good as to observe here the damning evidence."

A theatrical flourish thrust beneath Lanyard's nose a ring of gold in which a great stone burned like a gout of dragon's blood—the Rajah's ruby!

"Name of a miracle!" Lanyard, starting back as if the ring had been a viper's head, could for the moment only gape and gasp.

"Where did you find that?" "In your pocket, monsieur."

"What new nonsense is this?" Lanyard harshly demanded. "What damned effrontery makes you say you found that thing in my pocket?"

"The best of all excuses, monsieur," Plon pleaded, still maddeningly arch and bland, "seeing that there, precisely, was where I found it last night, when I searched you—in the outside pocket on the right side of the very coat you are wearing."

"And kept it to yourself!" "In both senses—as you see."

"As I see!" Lanyard, with a disgusted grunt, dropped back into his chair. "I see more than I see—but one thing clearly, that it amuses monsieur to make me the butt of some clownishness too thick for me to see through. 'Why,' he hotly demanded, '—assuming for the sake of the argument that you did find the ring where you say—why, then, didn't you display it, denounce me?'"

"One would think I must have agreed," and monsieur will have none, it is clear, of the explanation I have already hinted at—that untimely opportunity met a sudden outcrop of thievish instincts and 'turned a dull but honest detective into a devilish sly, nimble-witted, quick-fingered thief.'"

"My good Plon," Lanyard remonstrated, "for your own sake try to bear in mind your limitations. As an agent of the Sûreté you are trying, it's true, but at least comprehensible; as a comedian you are hopelessly miscast. Come, let us get at the bottom of this stupidity. What is it all about? You know very well that that ruby was never in my pocket—unless, indeed, some body placed it there to blacken appearances for me."

"Figure to yourself that that was my thought first."

Lanyard, in a wider stare than ever, sat bolt upright.

"But yes, I assure you, the minute my fingers met this trinket, I said to myself: 'It is planted evidence, my friend, that you have here!'"

exposure by asking for it. Consider also that I was for some minutes in the anteroom, last night, an unsuspected audience to your conversation, before I made my presence known: I heard what I heard and drew the only logical inferences. Would you have challenged those three to be searched when you knew the first dip into your pockets could not fail to locate the missing jewel? I may be all that the taunt implies, monsieur, when you call me a policeman, but before that I am a Frenchman—that is to say one of intelligence, imagination, intuition."

"Otherwise you would not be what the world has in mind when it hears the name of Plon."

Plon waited a breath with head a little tilted to one side and an eye bright with malice cocked at Lanyard.

"I have taken so much of the

"If, then," pursued Plon, "I announce my find, nothing can save him, nothing prevent his being returned to France to be tried for his crime." On the other hand, if I insist I have found nothing, he will be held under arrest, and therefore secure from further attempts to punish or break him, till the vessel docks and I have had time to talk this ass of a Captain over. While if he is permitted to go free and land with the other passengers, he will in little likelihood live to see another day. One knows too well the way American racketeers take with those who hinder or defy them. Give the man a chance, I said to myself—not only for his life, but for the life of a respected and self-respecting gentleman which he has made for one who might have ended his time a common felon."

Plon paused for breath, and the rough side of your tongue, monsieur, I am afraid I want more than flattery to put me in good humor with you. In fine," the man submitted, "I think you owe me an apology."

"I think I do, monsieur," Lanyard gravely bowed. "Permit me to beg you in all sincerity to accept it."

"Let us think no more about it, then, and consider the call for it forgotten." Say what you would, this one, once you found his right side, was generous! "To proceed: Here is proof indeed—I said to myself as I palmed the ring—of his good faith, and all that his friend the American detective has claimed on his part; manifestly this Lanyard has fallen into toils that will destroy him if, as it would seem, they cannot choke him into submission. Nothing is more certain than that no man so rational would have invited a proceeding which he knew was sure to result in his disgrace; it follows, then, that he did not know this jewel was in his pocket—that it was deliberately placed there without his knowledge by one of those others, all of whom must be parties to the plot against him."

He twitched the key out of the lock behind him, and with a handsome bow tendered it:

"The key, monsieur, to your freedom."

Knowledge of Vitamins Helped Conquer Scurvy

The Anti-Scorbutic Foods Prevent This Disease, Once Prevalent Among Sailors

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health,
New York City

MANY THOUSANDS of persons residing in and around New York took advantage of the opportunity to see the fleet on its recent visit to New York City. It was a stupendous sight. But the most impressive thing to me was the excellent physique and health of the men serving in our navy.

The culinary department of one of these battleships is surprising. The variety of foods available to the sailors and officers is in marked contrast to the conditions that existed in the navy little more than fifty years ago. In those days modern methods of refrigeration were not available and the canning industry had not perfected the preservation of foods. Few fresh fruits and vegetables could be included in the diet except when the ship was in port.

Because of this, scurvy, the most common vitamin-deficiency disease, was prevalent among sailors. For many years little was known about this strange malady. It afflicted persons in all parts of the world, but was most common among the sailors who were deprived of fresh fruits and vegetables.

The discovery of vitamins and the realization of the importance of fresh fruits and vegetables in the diet, resulted in rapid advancement in the treatment of this disease. It is now definitely known that a lack of fresh fruits and vegetables, especially the citrus fruits such as lemons, oranges, grapefruit and lime, leads to scurvy. These foods are known as "anti-scorbutic" foods. They contain a large amount of vitamin C, the vitamin that prevents scurvy and other of the deficiency diseases so often found when the diet is lacking in these substances. Even today the British navy furnishes a daily ration of lime as a means of preventing scurvy. This is an additional precaution, because the diet of the sailor in every navy includes plenty of fresh fruits and vegetables.

Was Common Among Infants

Unfortunately, many persons overlook the importance of the anti-scorbutic foods and fail to include them in the daily menu. This frequently leads to deficiency diseases. The most common symptoms are pallor of the skin, swollen gums and sensitive and loose teeth. The victim first complains of fatigue, loss of appetite, and is very irritable. If the progress of the disease is not stopped in the early stages, more serious symptoms occur.

Not so long ago this disease was especially common among infants and growing children. Now scurvy is a rare occurrence since citrus fruit juices are given children as early as the first month. For the young infant you may give strained orange juice or tomato juice.

Let me emphasize the importance and value of an abundant amount of fresh fruits and vegetables in your daily diet. Remember that many of the so-called trivial ailments may be the result of an inadequate and poorly balanced diet.

MARIAN MARTIN DESIGN LEAVES GOOD IMPRESSION PATTERN 9040

This frock has been designed upon the principle that one should always leave a good impression behind one. Look at the little sketch of the lady walking away. Hasn't she saved the prettiest part of her frock to show us last? See how cleverly the ends of the combination sleeves and yoke knot at the neck! And don't you like the bow at the waistline? It is a divine little frock in plaid or flowered fabric, but the woman who never wears a fancy fabric can make it up in a plain one and be delighted with it. And the making is surprisingly easy.

Pattern 9040 may be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 3½ yards 36 inch fabric.

The day was spent with music, games and stunts. All left late in the day wishing Mrs. Sharpe many happy returns of this her natal day.

Mrs. N. J. Dunlap spent Tuesday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. H. O. Pile and family in Circleville. Mr. Dunlap was a business visitor to Circleville and Chillicothe.

Mrs. George Shields, the sister of Mrs. Leslie Lott, is at the point of death at this writing.

Adam Reub and Mrs. May McCullough spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Reub in Tiffin, Kingston Chapter No. 411, Order of Eastern Star, will enjoy a picnic on Wednesday afternoon, July 25, at Logan Elm park. All members and their friends are cordially invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Barnes and daughter, Myrhl, Mrs. Nora Barnes and daughter, Cecil May, of Colerain-twp, sustained many cuts and bruises on Sunday night, when their automobile left the road on the way home from New Holland, where they had been visiting relatives. They were brought to the offices of Drs. S. C. and R. E. Lightner where they were given medical aid, before being taken to their homes.

Nora Barnes was injured in the side with broken ribs. Cecil May had a badly lacerated knee. All are doing well at this writing.

Mr. and Mrs. P. R. Crall, of Columbus and Mrs. Addie Hosler, of Circleville, were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Metzger on Sunday.

One thing seems certain in connection with failure of the government to specify "dead or alive" in offering $10,000 reward for the capture of Dillinger. That is that the officer who comes upon the outlaw will act as he would if the phrase had been included in the offer.

N. DAKOTA IS TENSE, 2 CLAIMING OFFICE

BISMARCK, N. D., July 20.—Extreme tenseness marked today's situation in Bismarck, where there are two governors claiming authority, national guardsmen on duty and federal troops at Fort Lincoln.

Developments hinged on the outcome of the attempt to get the state legislature into session under the call issued by William Langer, the governor deposed by the state supreme court. Langer was charged with soliciting federal relief workers' funds for campaign purposes and sentenced by the federal district court to 18 months in prison and $10,000 fine.

The house, controlled by Langer forces, met yesterday and announced to both Langer and Acting Governor Ole H. Olson, who has peacefully taken possession of the governor's office, that it had met and was ready to do business. A committee of three from the house, of which Mrs. Minnie Craig is speaker, served the notice. Langer controls the house.

ONLY 19 SENATORS
But in the senate, there were but 19, at the most, of the 49 members present, and they did not organize under the special call.

Today Olson was in the governor's office, and Langer occupied the governor's mansion. Following the dramatic "Return From Elba" of Langer, who had been in hiding in a cabin along the Missouri river since Tuesday, the Langer forces held a caucus in the Patterson hotel and declared they would have 26 votes in the senate when the session was called today. Meanwhile, Adj. Gen. Earle Saries, in command of the national guard which Langer called out when he declared martial law, placed four guardsmen about the quarters of Acting Gov. Olson in the Prince hotel.

He did this after speakers at a meeting in front of the Patterson hotel suggested that Langer supporters should not throw stones at Olson.

Langer appeared before the meeting of shirt sleeved, tanned farmers, and declared that they constituted "the greatest holiday association in the country." There was the sinister beating of an Indian tom-tom in the farmers' band that greeted him.

5-YEAR MORATORIUM
The "holiday" is a proposal for a five year moratorium on the foreclosure of farm mortgages—and the drouth and farm mortgages are the causes of most of the grief in this huge state, which is so burned up that there are practically no crops west of the Red river and cattle are dying for lack of water and forage.

"Scrap of Paper"
The expression "scrap of paper" is said to have been employed as early as 1878, when on January 17 the Russian minister used it in a letter to the Rumanian foreign minister with reference to the passage of Russian troops through Rumania during the war with Turkey.

Still, every generation in the last 8000 years thought the world was going to the dogs.

OF JACKSON

Candidate in Republican Primary for

Judge of Court of Appeals

(Unexpired Term)

Over 29 Years Experience in Practice of Law—more than double that of any other candidate. Former Probate Judge of Jackson County.

Unanimously Indorsed by Jackson County Republican Committee:

"During his twenty-nine years of active and uniformly successful practice of law, involving hundreds of actual trials, and extending into nearly all the Counties of this judicial district, and into more than a third of the counties of the State, he has been deservedly recognized by judges and members of the Bar as one of the foremost lawyers of Southern Ohio. Although now in the prime of his life and activity, his wide experience in all branches of the legal profession has given him a ripened judgment and a practical and working knowledge of the law as applied to the affairs of men and women, which are indispensable to a successful Appellate Judge, and which can be acquired only through experience.

"We unreservedly commend him to the electors of the District as a man of unquestioned integrity, as a lawyer of exceptional attainments, and as being particularly qualified by long experience, and also by natural judicial temperament, for the position of Appellate Judge."

Unanimously Indorsed by Jackson County Bar:

"We take pleasure in attesting his extensive and accurate knowledge of both the theory and practical application of the law, and his uniform courtesy, fairness and freedom from prejudice.

"He is a deep student and a tireless worker; and has demonstrated through his many years of practice that he possesses a thorough knowledge of legal principles and that he is able to properly interpret and apply them. His natural attitude of mind is such that he gives full consideration to all sides of any question, and forms his judgments fearlessly, fairly and without prejudice. He has not for many years sought any public office; but the experience he has gained in the hundreds of actual trials in which he has participated has fully qualified him for service as an appellate judge.

"We sincerely commend him to the electors of this Judicial District as a man of long experience, absolute integrity, dignified temperament and thorough education, possessing a keen sense of justice; all of which ideally qualify him for this position."

League's Lead at Stake As Feeds and Oils Play

Undisputed possession of first place in the recreation ball league is at stake this evening as the Eshelman Feeds and the Circleville Oils, unbeaten in the second half, tangle on the Southern Ohio Electric Co. field.

The game was postponed from a week ago when a downpour of rain at 6 o'clock put the damper on the contest.

Both teams have won all their second half games to date.

CALLIHAN VS PURCELL

The game is expected to be a duel between Eddie Callihan, Eshelman speed ball hurler, and Carl Purcell, Oil twirler.

The remainder of the lineups will probably be: Eshelman Feeds, F. Valentine, c; Fausnaugh, 1b; Tomlinson, 2b; Dewey, ss; Canter, 3b; J. Valentine, lf; Hector, cf; Rihl or Dunkel, rf; Circleville Oils, Robinson, c; Geib, 1b; Merriman, 2b; Steele, ss; Walker, 3b; Barnes, lf; H. White, cf; Moore, rf.

The umpires for the contest have not been announced. They will probably be selected prior to the game.

Next week's schedule follows:

Monday: Given Oils vs. Mecca restaurant.

Tuesday: Eshelman Feeds vs. McClarren Meats.

Wednesday: Circle City dairy vs. Container Corporation.

Thursday: Purina Chows vs. Circleville Oils.

Thursday evening's festivities at the ball field resulted in some mighty sore spots this morning. Glenn Nickerson, Frank Lynch and others endeavored to get in a little exercise. They did much to the enjoyment of a crowd of "bank-spectators."

BY THE SECOND GUESSER

GIVEN OILS WENT OUT OF town Thursday evening to add another to their string of scalps. The victims was Laureville and the score 13-11.

Alva Bradley, the king bee of the Cleveland Indian organization, took Stuart Bell, Ed Bang and Sam Otis, sports editor of Cleveland's leading newspaper, for a ride Thursday when he announced that Walter Johnson, peer of speed ball pitchers, had been re-employed for another year.

Since the Indians walked the New York Yankees to a victory the other day the wolves including the sports writers have been "on" the manager. The attack apparently provoked President Bradley just enough to have him give Johnson a new contract.

The Indians rallied in the ninth inning to defeat Boston Thursday. The score was 6-5 and Hal Trosky, Toledo graduate, provided the big blow a tripple with two on in the last of the ninth.

THE ALL-STAR-MILWAUKEE-Minneapolis game Thursday turned out as expected with the Millers winning 13-6. Joe Hauser provided the big blows with two home run smacks. Six Milwaukee men started the game for the "all-star" aggregation.

Colombia

Colombia borders upon both the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, and contains within its territory the towering peaks of the upper Andes and the great jungles of the higher Amazon valley. Bogota, the capital, is a picturesque old Spanish city high in the hills of the interior. Colombia's neighbor to the east, Venezuela, is the only portion of the mainland which Colombia herself sighted on his third voyage.

Serve Sandwiches With Summer Salads

With a summer salad, a sandwich is the completion of a meal at luncheon or supper. When it is unaccountably hot, a formal dinner seems almost a jest, and light foods win favor with homemakers who manage efficiently.

A crisped hot cheese roll makes a delightful salad accompaniment. Cream soft yellow cheese with a fork, adding cream if necessary to soften. Spread on slices of bread, from which crusts have been removed. Roll up, fasten with a toothpick. Brush each roll with melted butter and toast under the broiler, or in the oven, until a light brown.

Jewel Sandwiches

Cut bread with a lady-finger-shaped cutter. Spread lightly with butter, and put two pieces together, spread with jelly and the other with creamed cheese or peanut butter.

Chicken Sandwich Deluxe

1 1/2 C. diced ham	1/4 C. cream sauce
2 Tbsp. butter	Salt and pepper
1 1/2 C. diced, cooked chicken	1 egg yolk
1/4 C. cream	10 slices toast
	1/2 lb. cream cheese

Cook the ham in the butter 1 minute. Add diced chicken and cream. Cook very slowly 3 minutes. Add cream sauce and seasonings and cook slowly for a minute. Add beaten egg yolk. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Cover a slice of toast with the chicken and ham mixture, add a second slice of toast and cover it with a slice of cheese. Place under very low broiler heat until the cheese is melted. Serve immediately, garnished with curly endive, sections of tomato and stuffed olives. Serves 5.

Salmon Salad

1 C. salmon	3 T. salad dressing
1 hard cooked egg
1/2 C. finely chopped lettuce leaves
	celery

Chop the salmon fine, then add the other ingredients and mix to blend well. Spread on buttered slices of whole wheat bread. Place a leaf of lettuce in between. Makes 6 sandwiches. Tuna Fish salad sandwiches may be made the same way, adding chopped sweet pickle or lemon juice to give an added tang.

For a Fruit Salad

Sandwiches with fruit salads should not be too sweet and cheese traditionally improves the flavor of a fruit serving. Mix 1 C. cottage cheese with 1 to 2 Tbsp. thick cream. Spread butter and cheese on thin slices of whole wheat bread. Chop prunes and spread on the other half of slices, and place with the cream spread half. One cup of prunes and one cup of cheese makes sandwiches for 8.

Ham and Egg Sandwiches—For Hearty Appetites

1 C. chopped baked ham
1 hard cooked egg, chopped
2 tsp. mustard mayonnaise
1 tsp. chopped onion
10 stuffed olives, chopped

Combine ingredients and add more mayonnaise to make proper consistency for spreading. Spread on slices of rye or Vienna bread with lettuce between.

Does Not Shed Horns

The pronghorn antelope does not shed horns, being the only member of the deer family that does not. These horns are hollow and attached to the skull by a bone core like domestic cattle. The texture of the horn shows a grain running lengthwise of the horn not seen in moose, elk or deer horns. These other horns attached to a button or lump on the skull which does not penetrate the interior of the horn.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

writes: "I am getting to the age where I like to go out with girls and my father's car is old and worn out. What can you do to help me?"

Archie Foster of Nashua, N. H., writes: "Are you so ungrateful as to have forgotten that I was I who originally suggested to you the idea for the C. C. C.?"

Letters like these pour in on the President or Mrs. Roosevelt at the rate of five hundred a day. But the amazing thing is not their number, nor the fact that the President makes use of them to keep his ear to the ground but the fact that they are all given attention and reply.

No administration has ever spent so much time and money on Tom, Dick, and Harry. To reply to the avalanche is the job of Dr. Joseph J. Mayer who sits at a desk like an amiable school teacher with a class of sixty stenographers before him.

Dr. Mayer says only two percent of the letters are useless. Most of them seek advice or help which can be given.

"Anyhow," he says, "this is a democracy. All people have a right to appeal to their government. And we will tell them a darn sight more than 'Your letter will be given due consideration'."

ances to NRA employees the axe is beginning to descend. The staff of the Compliance Division has been notified that on orders of Lieutenant-Colonel George Lynch, Johnson's right hand man, there will shortly be a radical reduction of their number. No explanation is offered by the grim-visaged Lynch why the enforcing arm of the NRA should be decimated.

Joseph P. Kennedy, Chairman of the new Securities Exchange Commission, has 9 children, 4 sons and 5 daughters, ranging in age from a son, 19 to a girl, 2-1/2 years old. Potent is the power of the Mellons.

Despite investigations by the Department of Justice, Federal Trade Commission, and Congress no one has yet ascertained what it actually costs the Aluminum Company of America to produce ingot aluminum. The company has a world monopoly of bauxite the ore from which aluminum is made, and for many years, including the depression, there has been practically no variation in the price of the virgin metal.

Secretary of Interior Harold Ickes has been criticized for placing a "British flag" in his office. The flag has the Union Jack in the corner. It is not British, however, but Hawaiian, designed by King Kamehameha the First, who felt a deep sense of gratitude for English friendship in early Hawaiian history.

Nearly half a million miles of pipe lines made of some 30,000,000 tons of steel are in service in the United States.

Planets of Special Kind

Planets may be defined as a special kind of stars which revolve around the sun in a definite path or orbit. Besides the eight major planets, which include the earth, there are also a large number of minor or secondary planets which revolve around the major planets. The stars shine with a light of their own while the planets are luminous.

Business Resumes as San Francisco Strike Starts Cracking

With the clutch of the general strike on business in San Francisco apparently slipping following the arrival of Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, left, NRA administrator, on the scene, and repeated attacks of police on the headquarters of radical elements among the strikers, business houses, closed since the start of the widespread walkout, began to reopen. Street cars, too, also resumed service. Below, one of the wrecked Communist headquarters after it had been raided by police, who arrested persons in the places.

Mrs. Briggs' country home was made more beautiful by summer flowers artistically placed about the rooms. At the close of the game the hostess served a delicious lunch to the members and guests.

The next meeting of the club will be August 16 in the form of a picnic near Jamestown.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Stanley Stevenson and sons, Ellick and Verne, of Kansas City, Mo., will return to their home Sunday or Monday after a week's visit with Mr. Stevenson's brother, Ralph Stevenson and family, of Ashville and other relatives in this city.

UTILITIES GROUP PLEDGES TO CUT COSHOCTON RATE

COLUMBUS, July 20.—Aid of the state utilities commission to force lower gas rates in Coshocton had been pledged today.

Engineers of the commission, it was said, will be sent to that city in the near future to gather data on which the city council there will base a new rate ordinance.

After conferring with a delegation from Coshocton headed by Robert Kirkpatrick, a councilman, Chairman E. J. Hoople, of the commission, stated:

"I am inclined to agree that $1.50 is too high for the first 1,000 cubic feet of gas consumed in Coshocton."

The community is served by the Ohio Fuel Gas company.

Strike Highlights

SAN FRANCISCO, July 20.—Highlights of the strike situation: San Francisco—General strike ended after four days, and 71-day old waterfront strike reported well on way to settlement. All activities resumed in San Francisco except street car service partially crippled on Market street company lines.

Portland, Ore.—Gov. Meier orders natural guard mobilized as preparations made to open port. Senator Robert F. Wagner leaving for San Francisco hopeful general strike averted despite troop call.

Seattle—Police maintain lines about Smith cove terminals scene of rioting Wednesday. No threat general strike.

Fresco of 1540 Found in Wall
During renovating work in the Artushof (Court of Arthur), in Dan zig, a fresco painting was found under a covering of boards. It is in gray tones and gold and shows the creation of Eve, the Trinity and the expulsion from the Garden of Eden. Experts ascribe it to about the year 1540. The Artushof was built in its present form in 1480.

STRIKE ENDS

of the greatest union cities in America, has been under pressure from a radical element who, in some quarters, are accused of having built up and engineered a comparatively small strike—the longshoremen's walkout—into a general strike that threatened the economic life of the community.

Radical ringleaders took a severe beating as a result of calling off or the general strike. The peaceful settlement of the situation brought to an abrupt end all talk of "revolution."

Communists have been having a hard time of it for the past few days—and the end is not yet. Anti-radical activities by both police and civilian posses have progressed from spectacular raids on communistic headquarters to relentless prosecution of cases on hand.

The situation on San Francisco's waterfront was watched closely by union leaders. Trucks have been busy along the waterfront, under the armed protection of national guardsmen, moving freight between piers in preparation for wider movements.

Union truck drivers view this situation with unconcealed concern. The Teamsters' union—of which the truck drivers are a part—held a stormy session last night and decided to hold a secret referendum ballot today on the question: "Shall the teamsters go back to work?"

Sentiment was strong against truck drivers doing any hauling to the docks while the Longshoremen's strike is still in progress.

RETURN RUMORED

Efforts to end the strike of longshoremen and maritime unions now hinge on arbitration. Today the waterfront buzzed with rumors that the longshoremen were ready to return to work pending arbitration. Waterfront workers who previously showed an uncompromising attitude showed indications of a lessened resistance as a result of the calling off of the general strike.

It was with a feeling of intense relief, bordering upon joy, that San Franciscans resumed the normal tenure of their ways today. No longer were citizens wondering where to find a good place to eat, a barber shop in which they could be shaved or a taxicab to take them to a destination.

The strange sight of men and women tramping to work in droves was over. Street cars were loaded with passengers during the early morning rush hours. Motorists who couldn't buy a gallon of gasoline within the city limits a few days ago chugged merrily along. Parking spaces again became crowded.

San Francisco, upon which the eyes of the nation had been focused, was normal again.

Use for Cellulose
The first chemical uses for cellulose were those where it was combined with nitrogen to form cellulose nitrate. By varying the amount of nitrogen, chemists obtained a wide variety of products. If a large proportion of nitrogen was used they obtained smokeless powder. With a medium proportion the quick-drying lacquers for automobiles and similar products were developed. Using only a small amount of nitrogen to large amounts of cellulose, the chemists produced celluloid for motion picture film, toilet articles and a multitude of molded toys.

The Carat
The carat, a measure of weight or fineness, is used by jewelers to express both. A carat weighs four grains or the one hundred twentieth part of a Troy ounce. In determining the fineness of a precious metal 24 carats is considered the standard of purity. Hence an eighteen-carat gold ring would be one containing 18 parts in 24 of pure gold.

American Indian's Health
The American full-blood Indian was entirely immune to rickets, largely so to cretinism and cancer, and somewhat more so than the white man to diphtheria, typhoid fever, mental and nervous diseases (excepting epilepsy), and various skin diseases; but he was much less immune than the white to small-pox, measles, tuberculosis, and influenza.—Literary Digest.

Points Farthest Apart
The two points in the United States proper that are farthest apart, according to the United States geological survey, are Cape Hatteras, Wash., and a point on the Florida coast south of Miami, about 2,835 miles apart. The distance between West Quoddy, Maine, and Cape Alva, Wash., is 2,907 miles.

Waterspouts
Ordinarily, waterspouts occur only in tropical waters, for the reason that the air in the tropics is always warm and moisture-laden, and ready to condense upon meeting a sudden cool wind. However, waterspouts have been reported in the warm Gulf stream in northern seas. These spouts are believed to occur when cold wintry blasts from the land pass out over the sea and meet the warm Gulf stream. Waterspouts last only a few minutes and are believed to be not dangerous to a ship, even when the spout is directly in the path of the ship.

Ten Overworked Words
Ten words make up 25 per cent of our ordinary speech, say the lexicographers. They are: "The, of, and, to, a, in, that, it, is, I." Further, they estimate that the average person's active vocabulary, exclusive of proper names, does not exceed 3,000 words! The unabridged dictionary contains 400,000 words.

What Was Back of Sending Senator Bob Wagner to West Coast Strike

WASHINGTON — Behind the sudden sending of Senator Bob Wagner to the Pacific Coast as Labor Trouble Man were two factors.

One was the fact that the President, fishing in Pacific waters, has been extremely nervous about the San Francisco strike.

The other is the fact that Miss Perkins, sitting at one end of the long distance phone in Washington, has been equally nervous.

Both the Secretary of Labor and the President, to a certain extent, are "on the spot." Miss Perkins is the first woman cabinet member in history. For her a major catastrophe like the San Francisco situation is a hard thing to live down.

Roosevelt is in somewhat the same predicament. He has given more concessions to labor than any previous President. And because of this he has been severely criticized.

For him to be on a fishing trip at this vital time, could be used as good ammunition by political enemies.

As a result radios between Miss Perkins and the U. S. S. Houston have been hot and frequent. Both finally decided that a meeting of Wagner's prestige and might help the situation.

Brothers

Alabama's Representative William B. Bankhead, father of actress Tallulah and one of the few really able Democratic leaders, was reminiscing about campaign experiences.

In 1930 Bankhead took the stump for his Senatorial brother, John H. Bankhead, running against "Tommy" Heflin. John and Bill toured the State together in a car.

One day, on a lonely country road, they encountered a young farmer, stopped for a chat. They introduced themselves, and Bill explained their mission, asked the native to vote for his brother. The young fellow was non-committal.

"I want you to come over and hear him talk," Bill urged. "John is talking tomorrow night in Jasper, and you don't want to miss it. He is a whole lot more capable than I am."

This last was with a disarming smile. "Yes," was the steady reply. "That is just what my Pap says, and I reckon Pap knows what he is talkin' about."

Juvenile Judge Burns

Wall Street lost another skirmish with the Brain Boys when Judge Johnny Burns was made general counsel of the new Stock Exchange Board.

Johnny Burns, only 33, is the youngest judge ever to serve on a superior court in Massachusetts. He is an amazing person. Like the beloved ex-Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, he jumped from a professorship in the Harvard Law School to a high court position. Recently he was mentioned as Massachusetts gubernatorial timber.

Ben Cohen, who helped write the Stock Exchange Act, had been first choice as general counsel. Russell Leffingwell, J. P. Morgan partner, paid Cohen the tribute as being the "most amazing legislative drafter" he had ever known. Wall Street was praying that Cohen would not take the job.

Although he yielded to these prayers, he did so to take a more important job as coordinator of Roosevelt's new social insurance plan. And Wall Street will not be one iota better off under the whip of Judge Burns.

White House Mail

No President in history has taken such pains with his tons of personal mail as Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Lucy Potts of Center City writes to him: "My husband is dead, my son has polio, and my mother is about to be foreclosed."

JURORS IGNORE 2 WRECK CHARGES

STOUT IS FREE; 4 INDICTED IN ASHVILLE JOBS

Southworth and Coey Go Free as Jurors Probe Fatalities

ARRAIGNED MONDAY

Louden, Clark Named; So is U. L. Reigel

The special session of the grand jury, which completed three days of work Thursday afternoon, returned 19 indictments, ignored seven cases and passed two complaints to the next session, according to its report filed with Clerk of Courts A. L. Wilder.

Two of the indictments are secret. Notably among the cases ignored were the charges against Earl "Grandma" Stout, this city, for selling liquor to a minor, David Adkins, E. Main-st.

The jurors also declined to return indictments against the drivers of automobiles which figured in two fatal traffic accidents last week-end.

Since no indictments were returned, Harold Southworth, Detroit, and Lester Coey, Colerain-twp, Ross-co, who were held in the county jail pending the report of the grand jury, will be released.

LOUDEN, CLARK INDICTED

Five indictments were returned against Carroll Louden of Bradford, one of a pair arrested in connection with several Ashville bombings. Other members of the gang indicted were Glenn "Spikew" Clark, Columbus, formerly of Ashville, on three counts; Jess Friday, Columbus, one count, and John Henry Preston, yet to be apprehended, two counts.

Clark and Louden were indicted for burglary and larceny of the Bessett Electric Shop; Louden, Friday and Clark were indicted for robbery of Frank Morrison, Ashville. They were charged with taking $260. Louden and Preston were jointly indicted for burglary and larceny of the Morris Hardware store, where $169.40 was taken.

Clark and Louden were named jointly in an indictment charging burglary and larceny of the Grove and Rhodes store, while Louden and Preston were indicted jointly for stealing a motor vehicle from Leon Taylor of Columbus.

Other indictments were returned against the following: Richard Samuel Ashville, regis- tering to provide for a child; Roy Hoffman, Tarlton, carrying concealed weapons; U. L. Reigel, N. MERCURY CLIMBS

Circleville was gripped in another hot spell Friday, with a possibility that temperatures would reach the near 100-degree mark late in the afternoon.

At noon today, the reading was 93, and the mercury was climbing little by little. An oppressive amount of humidity filled the atmosphere, making Friday the most uncomfortable day thus far in July.

Yesterday's high mark was 96, the temperature having jumped better than five degrees over the previous day. Thermometers readings throughout Ohio registered five-degree increases in most cities.

SALT CREEK-TP WOMAN IS CUT

Mrs. Weaver, 26, Suffers Numerous Facial Injuries In Auto-Truck Crash.

With her face badly cut, Mrs. William Weaver, 26, who lives on the G. H. Armstrong farm, Salt-creek-twp, was in Chillicothe hospital today in a "fair" condition after a truck-automobile crash east of Hallsville Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Weaver's husband had a cut on his forehead which required several stitches to close. Dr. H. R. Brown, who is caring for Mrs. Weaver, said Friday that her right cheek is badly lacerated, her right ear cut in two and her right nostril also split. It is possible she has a fractured upper jaw.

LOST MUCH BLOOD

In addition to her disfiguring cuts Mrs. Weaver lost much blood. Weaver's model T Ford collided with the Pure Oil pick-up truck operated by Russell E. McCord, 27, at the intersection on the Walnut creek road and the Marietta-pk, east of Hallsville. The impact overturned both automobiles. McCord was driving west on the Marietta road and Weaver was going north on the Walnut creek road. The view of intersection was reported obscured by standing corn and fence rows.

Weaver and his wife were taken to Dr. Henninger's office at Adelphi and were then removed to the Chillicothe hospital by Jap Baker, Hallsville garage man. McCord was not badly hurt.

The Weavers were returning home after hunting blackberries.

MRS. BARRERE FALLS, FRACTURES WRISTS

Mrs. Elgar Barrere, 119 W. Union-st., suffered fractures of both wrists when she fell at her home early Friday.

She was given relief by Dr. E. V. Condit who was forced to break a window to gain entrance to the house.

Mrs. Barrere, who was planning to leave Sunday on a vacation trip, was taken to Berger hospital by Dr. Court-right. She was reported resting as comfortably as possible.

SAWYER TO TALK IN CHILLICOTHE

A number of Circleville Democrats are planning to go to Chillicothe this evening to attend a meeting at the Memorial armory in Yontangee park where Charles Sawyer, of Cincinnati, candidate for governor, will speak.

In his visit to Chillicothe, Mr. Sawyer will be returning to the scene where 17 years ago he served as captain in the U. S. Army, drilling embryonic doughboys at Camp Sherman.

The rally tonight will start at 8 o'clock and a full representation of Sawyer supporters are expected from the 11th congressional district.

The new agent, who comes here for an indefinite period, was highly recommended by the extension department of Ohio State university.

Having been raised on a large livestock farm in Marion-co, Indiana, Mr. Blair will be well qualified to work with the farmers in this county. He is a graduate of Purdue university and for the past ten years has been the successful county agent in Ottawa-co.

It was announced today that the contract for the construction of Circleville's new livestock auction buildings on the property of the Pickaway Livestock Cooperative Association, E. Ohio-st, will be let next Monday evening at a meeting of the directors of the association.

Rev. Toensmeier was enroute to his brother's bedside when death came.

The deceased, who is survived by his widow, two sisters and another brother, was a retired Presbyterian minister.

He had been ill only a few days after being overcome by the heat.

Following closely the action of her husband in filing a charge of insanity against her, Mrs. Nellie Knece of Saltcreek-twp, today had filed a charge of assault and battery against Albert Knece, also of Saltcreek-twp.

Knece pleaded not guilty to the charge before Mayor W. B. Cady, Thursday, and was bound over to the grand jury under $200 bond.

Thursday morning Knece filed a complaint in probate court charging that his wife was insane. She was arrested by Sheriff Charles Radcliff and brought before Judge C. C. Young. The hearing has been set for Monday. She later filed the charge against her husband.

POLICE CATCH 'RED' LEADERS

Four Men, Woman Arrested; Believed Planning Communist Effort On Coast.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 20.—Police today in a swift raid arrested four men and a woman as the Communist leaders in the Pacific coast labor strike.

Captured were Harry Jackson, said to be one of the three most powerful Communist organizers in America; John Rogers, "seaman"; Joseph Wilson, Harry Provost and Elaine Black.

They were found in Jackson's home, the police said, planning a "comeback" for the broken Communist forces here—broken in a series of spectacular raids as an aftermath of the general strike.

Jackson appeared before the President's mediation board here as spokesman for a Marine Communist organization.

The woman is secretary of the International Labor Defense and is said to have furnished the funds to promote Communist activities in the San Francisco area.

Wilson said he is secretary of District 13 for the Communist movement in the United States. He was sent to jail last week for contempt of court after writing a municipal judge sharp letters concerning the money to the relief fund.

32 APPLICATIONS FOR PENSIONS PUT INTO MAIL TODAY

Approximately one-twentieth of the 629 applications for old age pensions, which have been filed with T. D. Krlinn, Pickaway-co administrator, were forwarded to M. L. Brown, state administrator for approval today.

Thirty-two applications were in the list which were sent away. The county commissioners and Mr. Krlinn, acting as the pension board, approved them.

First pension payments are expected to be made August 1, and in the meantime, employees of the county auditor's office are working diligently with Mr. Krlinn to get all of the applications ready for approval.

PORTLAND TENSE

PORTLAND, Ore., July 20.—A tense situation had been created today by the mobilization of 1,000 members of the Oregon national guard for duty in connection with the waterfront strike.

Gov. Julius L. Meier ordered the guardsmen mobilized at Camp Withycomb, 15 miles south of here, as a precautionary move after being notified by waterfront employers of their intention to open the port on a widespread scale.

Interest centered on whether the mobilization would affect an agreement made by union leaders with Senator Robert F. Wagner of New York, federal mediator, to withhold plans for a general strike while the senator sought a settlement of the waterfront strike in San Francisco. He was to leave for the south today.

COLUMBUS, July 20.—Restoration of Pickaway-co as a unit in the Ohio State and federal relief set-up, and approval of the appointment of Howard S. Irwin of Circleville as the county relief director, were announced today by the state relief commission.

Irwin was selected by the Pickaway-co commissioners.

The relief commission also has authorized the expenditure of $2,501.25 for direct relief and $1,200 for the works division program in Pickaway-co during the balance of July, it was stated.

FOLLOWED CONFAB

The commission's action followed several conferences between Major E. O. Braught, executive director, and the Pickaway-co commissioners, and was based upon Braught's recommendations.

On June 27, the commission announced that it would remove all its activities from Pickaway-co at the end of June. As a result of the commission's decision, no allotment of relief funds was made to the county when July budgets were prepared.

The commission's decision to withdraw all relief activity from the county was based upon the disclosure of state and county funds had been improperly diverted by the Pickaway-co commissioners to the general and poor infirmity funds of the county. There was absolutely no criminal illegality about the transfer, however.

Before withdrawing its program from the county, the commission notified the Pickaway commissioners that aid from the state relief administration to needy persons in the county would depend upon restoration of the monies to the relief fund.

FOLLOWING RITES

The commission required in addition, it was pointed out, that the commissioners agreed to abide by the rules and regulations of the state and federal relief administrations, including the stipulation that relief fund expenditures must be approved by the state relief commission.

The diverted monies have been returned to the relief funds and the commissioners have consented to co-operate fully with the state relief administration, Braught said.

ACTOR AND LADY ASHLEY CHARGED WITH MISCONDUCT

LONDON, July 20.—Further charges of misconduct were filed against Douglas Fairbanks, American film star, and Lady Ashley, former actress, in a supplementary divorce petition presented today by solicitors for Lord Ashley.

It is understood the charges have to do with alleged association between Fairbanks and Lady Ashley since the original divorce petition was filed.

Fairbanks and Lady Ashley are now at Monte Carlo where they have been frequently seen together. The Ashley divorce suit is scheduled for hearing in October.

The new charges, it is understood deal with Fairbanks' alleged association with the beautiful Lady Ashley while he was engaged in making the film, "The Private Life of Don Juan," at Elstree. He has maintained a magnificent estate at North Mimms, near Elstree, which he rented for $750 weekly.

DROUTH AGAIN IN NORTHWEST

Scorching Sun Sends Mercury Over 100 Mark; Heat Belt Is Widespread.

CHICAGO, July 20.—Scorching, record-breaking heat held sway over the plains states today, deepening the tragedy of drouth.

Human suffering was intense and crop damage widespread in temperatures that ranged above the 100 degree level in several states. At Knoxville, Ia., the mercury yesterday climbed to 113 degrees.

According to the official weather forecast there was little hope for relief within the next 48 hours.

A baking sun and scorching winds from the south-west intensified the already acute drouth conditions that prevail in the agricultural middle west. Herds of thirsty cattle were dying. Crops withered to destruction in dusty fields that farmers have deemed too dry for cultivation.

Chicago's millions suffered with an official reading of 96 degrees which was made more intense by unusual humidity. An estimated 300,000 persons were driven to Lake Michigan for relief from the heat here, many of them remaining throughout the night as the mercury held in the lower 90's.

The heat belt was widespread, extending as far westward as the Rocky mountains where Denver, Colo., reported 100 degrees readings. At Miles City, Mont., and Havre, Mont. the mercury hit 104.

Omaha, Neb., reported a maximum temperature of 110, just short of the all-time record. Sioux City, Ia., had a reading of 106; Des Moines, Ia., 105; Springfield, Mo., and St. Louis, 102; Topeka, Kan., 105, and Springfield, Ill., 100.

Water supplies of many communities were nearing exhaustion due to the increasing deficiency of rainfall. There was no more water to be had in Creston, Ia., where citizens were forced to rely on Council Bluffs for their supply.

GENERAL WALKOUT IS ENDED

Mediators, Headed by Johnson, Seek End of Shoreman's Strike

TROOPS TO LEAVE

Trouble in Portland New Holds Attention

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN SAN FRANCISCO, July 20 (INS).—With the hectic, four-day general strike declared off, industrial clouds lifted in the San Francisco bay district today as 122,000 union workers went back to their jobs and saving the city back to its normal pace of activity.

Encouraged by this development, mediators were striving to effect a settlement of the waterfront walkout which brought about the sympathetic general strike.

The wheels of business whirled again. San Francisco had taken an estimated loss of $100,000,000 and was glad to get going again more after having been standing for four eventful, never-to-be-forgotten days.

BACK TO NORMAL

Theaters were open, taxi-cabs running, hotels and barber shops operating as usual and the big department stores doing a roaring business. The only sign of a few days ago had given way to the joyful clamor and bustle of a typical American city swinging back to normal.

National guard troops—brought here to protect life and property—were expected to be withdrawn shortly. More than 5,000 sailors and men on duty on the San Francisco and Oakland waterfronts awaited instructions to depart. At Sacramento, the state capital, Acting Gov. Frank P. McWhorter after a conference with Adjutant General Seth E. Howard of the California national guard, decided that the first units will be recalled at once if no further complications develop.

Attention in San Francisco was focused today on two points where strikes still exist—the Market street railways and the waterfront. The railway company ran cars on three lines yesterday to avoid possible violence. The company planned to put an additional 100 cars in operation this morning.

The movement to settle San Francisco's waterfront strike, which has been in progress since May 9, proceeded with mediators in a hopeful frame of mind. General Hugh S. Johnson, NRA administrator who is on the scene acting as spokesman for the National Longshoremen's board, radioed President Roosevelt he thought the "whole situation" should be settled within twenty-four hours.

SCHEDULED TO TALK

Johnson planned to take time out to make a quick flight to Los Angeles today, where he was scheduled to make a speech in the Hollywood bowl.

Senator Robert F. Wagner of New York was expected to arrive in San Francisco today from Portland, where he has been active smoothing over labor difficulties.

The situation in Portland, however, still was menacing. Gov. Julius L. Meier has ordered the Oregon national guard to mobilize to protect life and property in the event of strife. The governor had been notified that waterfront employers at Portland intend to open that port to commerce regardless of the longshoremen's strike in progress there.

In the east bay district, including Oakland, Berkeley, Alameda and several other smaller communities 107 unions went back to work this morning. Forty-seven thousand workers were affected. Street car transportation on the Key system lines was resumed. In Oakland, the labor "strategy committee" for Alameda-co voted unanimously last night to end the general strike at once.

While the labor vote calling off the strike was close it was enough to demonstrate that the conservative union leaders were in control of their organizations.

Justice Officials May Fingerprint All Nation

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Event-fingerprinting of all persons in the United States to afford a permanent identification system was authorized today by department of justice officials.

In discussing the department's identification bureau, which contains more than 4,000,000 fingerprints, mostly of law violators, Attorney General Cummings declared the system "is bound to grow."

Thousands of persons disappear annually, vanishing into a port of missing men and women, to a large extent because of the inability to identify those who have lost their memory—either voluntarily or involuntarily—as victims of accidents, or of disease.

TASK DIFFICULT

While admitting the difficulty of such an undertaking and that the public must be educated to such a project, officials said it is not beyond the realm of possibility.

Such a record would form an invaluable aid to law enforcement officers as well as in cases where no criminal activities are involved. The investigation unit of the justice department has the largest file of fingerprints in the world. In addition there are thousands of prints of suspects picked up by police throughout the country, later found to be innocent. The war and navy departments have a tremendous file of fingerprints of past and present members of the military establishment.

Discussing the department's identification unit Cummings said that criminals were classified as to crimes committed and technique of operation. Several thousand records of kidnappers, bank robbers, extortionists and other offenders against the federal law have been segregated.

No Snow Houses for Eskimos

The only snow houses, or igloos, viewed by the majority of Eskimos have been those portrayed by motion pictures, says G. R. Turner in the Kansas City Times. In North America and Greenland there are approximately 30,000 Eskimos, three-fourths of whom have never seen a snow house, and of these only a fractional number have ever spent a winter in one. In summer most Eskimos live in tents made by stretching skins over poles, and in winter they usually dwell in houses made of turf or earth laid on a framework of driftwood or whale ribs. The igloo, or snow house, is constructed chiefly by hunters.

Hot Weather Specials

Are you the sort of person who says, "I just don't feel like eating these hot days. The heat just robs me of my energy and appetite?" That will never do. If you are short on energy, you must remember that your body requires energy foods as much in the summer as in the cooler months. Salad foods provide the energy without the excessive calories that chiefly produce heat.

Let some of these selected recipes tempt larking appetites. They should go far!

How About "Eggs in Pepper Rings"?

Wash, seed and cut large green peppers into half-inch rings and place a ring into each cup of a muffin tin. Add butter, a dash of mustard, a few drops of lemon juice, a drop or two of Worcestershire sauce and a tablespoon of cream. Drop a whole egg, unbroken, into the ring. Add salt and pepper, and a coating of grated cheese. Place in the oven and cover with a pan lid if possible. Bake slowly 10 to 15 minutes until the eggs are firm, but not hard. This idea is a challenge to your ingenuity. Try a curl of bacon over the egg, a slice of firm tomato under it or some other combination that occurs to you as being good.

Frozen Tennessee Salad

1/2 C. sugar 1/4 C. whipping cream
2 Tbsp. flour 1 C. pineapple, sliced
1/4 tsp. salt 1 C. white cherries
1 egg yolk 1/2 C. blanched almonds
1/2 C. lemon juice
1/2 C. pineapple juice

Heat lemon and pineapple juice in a double boiler. Blend sugar, flour, and salt in egg yolk. Add this mixture to the heated juices, and cook to the consistency of boiled dressing. Chill with ice cubes. Whip cream. Fold the cooled, cooked ingredients into the whipped cream; lastly, fold in the fruit and nuts, which have been chopped. Freeze in the trays of an automatic refrigerator about 3 hours. Serve on lettuce with or without mayonnaise.

Vanderbilt Salad

On a lettuce cup place a slice of canned pineapple; cover with equal quantities of orange and grapefruit sections that have been sweetened with a small portion of powdered sugar. Serve with a heap of whipped cream salad dressing and sprinkle the top with chopped nuts. The whipped cream salad dressing is made with 1 cup double cream whipped, 1/4 teaspoon paprika, 1/4 teaspoon salt and 2 tablespoons of lemon juice, blended together.

Eggs Poached in Tomato Soup

For a luncheon dish, the recipe given here offers another way to add tomato to the menu. Use this proportion for six servings:

1 tsp. sugar
1/2 C. cold water
1 1/2 C. tomato soup

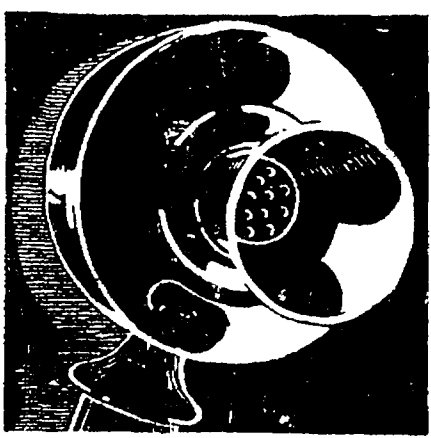

Heat ingredients to boiling point in a shallow pan. Reduce heat slightly, drop the eggs carefully into the mixture and cook until firm. Be careful that the liquid does not return to the boiling point or the eggs will toughen. Place six rounds of toast on a hot platter and, as each egg is cooked, remove it to a toast slice. When all are done, pour the soup over them and serve at once.

Leg-Power Boats

Note from the magazine Asia. "The leg rowers of the lovely lake lake in the southern Shan states of Burma propel a boat with great power and perfect control by standing on one leg and swinging the other around the paddle for the stroke, which is circular in action, with the sharp finish so characteristic of the good waterman. It is not, of course, rowing with the leg, but with the whole weight of the body, as in all effective propulsion. The leg around the paddle acts only as a link between the body and the oar. The oarsmen use either leg, leaving one hand free to hold a parasol or fishing spear."

Generally speaking, the male human brain weighs more than the female, although the relative weights of the brain and body are about the same. The average weight of the male brain is about forty-eight ounces and the female brain forty-three ounces. The human brain is heavier than that of any animal in proportion to his size. Whales have the largest brains.

EXPECT SPEED NEAR 300 MI. IN AIR EVENT

Thompson Trophy Race of
Cleveland Air Show To Be
Usual Feature.

CLEVELAND, July 20.—Speed approaching 300 miles an hour can be expected at the annual renewal of the Thompson Trophy 100-mile race for all the National Air Races here Labor Day, in the opinion of expert aviation engineers. They base their opinions on speed increases shown since 100-mile closed course races were inaugurated.

In 1929 Doug Davis astonished the aviation world by averaging 194 miles per hour in the 100-mile race. In 1930 the late "Speedy" Holman won with an average of 201 m. p. h. and in 1931 the late Lowell Bayles set a new mark of 236 m. p. h. The record is held by "Jimmy" Doolittle who averaged 252.686 m. p. h. winning in 1932. Last year the late J. R. Wedell, who was awarded the trophy, failed to equal the Doolittle mark, averaging only 237.952 m. p. h. C. F. Roscoe, Turner who finished first but was disqualified averaged 241.051 m. p. h.

NEW CRAFT PREPARED
But newly streamlined aircraft with supercharged motors and constructed to withstand the terrific speed are being prepared for the 1934 classic and there are intrepid

pilots who are determined that the Doolittle mark must be beaten. To participate in this event entrants must set up an average of 225 m. p. h. in qualifying dashes. There are many airplanes in this country capable of this but to maintain a speed much in excess of that for 100 miles is a real task for a pilot.

This year the Thompson race will be flown over a five mile course. This will mean spectators will see the competing pilots flash past the grandstand twenty times of but ten as when the race is over a ten mile course.

CANNING PEACHES

A recent survey of Government statistics show that the late peach crop is a near failure this year. Most of commercial shipping purposes will be used for canning by four southern states.

Georgia estimates a crop of 6,000 cars; Arkansas, 2,500 cars; Tennessee, 1,500 cars; North and South Carolina, 1,200 cars; and Illinois, 600 cars. These peaches will be shipped between July 15 and 25, and will constitute approximately 85 per cent of all peaches shipped, with the exception of California.

New Jersey, Delaware, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Indiana, and Ohio will have practically few or no peaches of any importance this year, due to the extreme cold weather from last winter, and the housewife that anticipates canning peaches will be forced to purchase in the next few weeks, as late peaches are practically a total failure.

Mrs. Geo. Thurn Gives Good Chicken And Meat Dishes For Entertaining

Dear Friends in Circleville:
These summer days mean, that for some of us, at least, we have a little more time to visit with our friends and neighbors than when the rush of winter duties sits so heavily upon us. A "company" dinner in summer need be no more burdensome than the more elaborate affairs of cold weather; in fact it should be less trouble, for at this season the iced delicacies from our refrigerator may make up half or more than half of the menu.

But the main dish, for most dinners, especially when there are men guests, should be a hot dish. I have selected these unusual recipes, some of which never have been printed before, for summer entertainment menus. Don't be afraid to use sugar in meat cooking, especially for summer, for with the more active lives we are apt to lead in swimming and other sports, we need more of the energizing foods. Sugar improves flavor!

Here's a good example of a main dish which is nourishing.

Chicken with Fruits

One roasting fowl, cleaned for stuffing; three cups bread crumbs; one fourth cup melted butter; one teaspoon salt; one tablespoon sugar; one eighth teaspoon pepper; one cup freshly made apple sauce; one half cup steamed, mashed prunes; one half cup chopped nut meats.

Stuff the fruit and crumbs, sugar and butter mixture into the fowl, place in a roasting pan and rub with softened shortening mixed to a paste with flour, salt, sugar and pepper, using about one teaspoon of salt, one tablespoon of sugar and one fourth teaspoon of pepper. Place the bird breast down in the pan, and set in a hot oven, 450 degrees, for fifteen minutes. Then add a cup of boiling water, lower the heat a little, and cook for one hour. Turn the bird over, baste with the juices in the pan, and finish roasting, until evenly golden all over. Make the gravy in the fat in the pan. A delicious addition to this is a garnish of sliced preserved peaches.

Lamb with Peas

A shoulder of lamb, boned, and with a pocket cut in it for stuffing. One cup fresh veal, run through the grinder; one fourth cup salt pork also chopped; one and one half cups bread crumbs; one half teaspoon salt; one teaspoon sugar; one fourth teaspoon pepper; one teaspoon chopped parsley; one teaspoon chopped onion; two tablespoons flour; one teaspoon salt; one teaspoon sugar; one fourth teaspoon paprika; one can of canned peas.

Mix veal, pork, bread crumbs, one half teaspoon salt, one teaspoon sugar, the pepper and chopped parsley and stuff into the pocket of the roast. Tie in shape, and rub the surface with a mixture made of the two tablespoons of flour, one teaspoon of salt and sugar with the paprika. Place in a hot oven, 400 degrees, but do not cover. Twenty minutes before the end of the roasting, surround with halves of canned peas which have been dipped in flour and granulated sugar. Brown the peas right in the roasting pan and serve them as a garnish around the meat. Make a gravy from the fat and fruit juices in the pan, and adding some of the juice of the peas, with one teaspoon lemon juice added as well as the usual seasonings.

Club Chops

Have two chops for each guest; season with salt and pepper, place on each one a slice of onion, a slice of tomato, and a teaspoon of minced green pepper and parsley. Sprinkle with salt, pepper and sugar. Cover each with a tablespoon of butter and crumbs. Bake in a hot oven, 400 degrees, until the chops are tender.

Chicken Venetian Style

Cut a young chicken into halves, and flatten each piece with a heavy knife or cleaver. Saute in butter until well browned, turning from time to time. When well covered, place in a pot and cover with two cups vegetables or meat stock or bouillon; add pepper and salt, and a tablespoon of sugar; two sprigs parsley, a small bunch of fine celery stems from the top of the stalk. Simmer gently for one and a half hours and let the sauce reduce. Lay the pieces in a deep baking dish.

Thicken the sauce in the pot with flour, stir smoothly, and pour over the chicken. Cover with a layer of grated cheese, dot with butter and brown in the oven. Serve in the same dish. Garnish with little rice croquettes each containing a spoonful of marmalade in its center.

Fillet of Mutton Milanaise
Six fillets of lamb or mutton, one cup macaroni broken in small pieces for cooking; one half cup plain cooked ham; one cup tomatoes; two tablespoons butter; two tablespoons grated Parmesan cheese; one beaten egg; one half to one cup bread crumbs, mashed potatoes; salt, pepper, sugar and paprika for seasoning.

Dip the fillets in the beaten egg, then roll in crumbs. Brown in hot fat on both sides, and put in a dish in the oven to keep hot until the sauce is ready.

Cook the macaroni in boiling, salted water, drain, combine with the tomatoes pressed through a fine sieve. Cut the ham in fine strips like matches, and add to the tomato and macaroni mixture. Turn into a saucepan in which the butter has melted, and shake gently over the fire until hot. Season with salt, pepper and one teaspoon of sugar. Serve the macaroni in the center of a large dish, arranging the hot fillets around it. Sprinkle all with the cheese and serve at once.

Serve Waffles for Porch Suppers

To serve with waffles, made on the porch with one of the modern electric irons, combine vanilla ice cream and stewed fresh cherries; peach ice cream and fresh, sliced peaches; chocolate ice cream and chocolate sauce; lemon ice cream and orange sauce; and crushed, fresh berries or fruit with custard sauce. These combinations make delightful summer desserts when the luncheon has been light.

Or if the waffle is intended for a main dish, serve with it creamed chicken or creamed tuna fish; creamed dried beef; creamed left over vegetables; or cheese sauce and left over vegetables.

Waffles for Six
Two cups flour; three teaspoons baking powder; one half teaspoon salt; two eggs; one and one half cups milk; four tablespoons melted shortening. Sift the flour and baking powder and salt together. Beat the eggs until light, blend with the milk, and add to the dry mixture. Then add the melted shortening to this mixture. Pour onto the hot waffle iron, according to directions with the iron, and brown until crisp. This makes six good sized waffles.

A economical and nourishing luncheon or dinner main dish is easily made with canned salmon. For instance this:

Swedish Baked Salmon

One pound can salmon, shredded, cleaned of skin and bones; two tablespoons flour; two tablespoons olive oil; one or two large onions thinly sliced; one cup thin slices raw potato. Rub a baking dish with butter and cover the bottom with salmon, sprinkle with flour and oil, then cover with a layer of onions and potato; repeat with salmon, onions and potato; pour the salmon juice over all with just enough milk added to moisten the contents of the dish. Dot with bits of butter. Bake for one hour in a moderate oven, 350 degrees. Crumbs added to the top make a delicious addition.

Casserole of Salmon
One pound can salmon; six small potatoes, diced; one green pepper parboiled and cut in thin slices; two canned pimientos, cut in thin strips; two hard cooked eggs cut in thin slices; one cup thin white sauce; two tablespoons chopped parsley; two tablespoons bread crumbs; four tablespoons melted butter.

Leave salmon in large pieces in the casserole but remove bones and skin, add potatoes, pepper, parsley, chives, pimientos and eggs, and mix lightly. Over this mixture pour the white sauce, sprinkle with bread crumbs and then melted butter. Bake about thirty minutes in a hot oven, 400 degrees.

Salmon Cutlet

Three tablespoons flour; four tablespoons butter; one cup hot milk; one pound canned salmon, freed of bones and skin; fat for deep frying.

Flake the salmon, add flour, butter and milk and stir together over heat until thick. Let cool. Shape into cutlets, roll in flour, then in beaten egg yolk diluted with milk. Dip in bread crumbs, then lower in a frying basket into deep, hot fat. Serve with tomato sauce or cheese sauce.

Green Tomatoes and Salmon
Green tomatoes sliced very thin, are dipped in a thin mixture of flaked salmon with one beaten egg and cracker crumbs. Salt and pepper each slice; lower in deep hot fat, fry to delicate brown. Delicious with or without a sauce.

Croquettes Supreme

One cup cooked rice; two unbeaten eggs; one pound can salmon; juice one lemon; one half teaspoon salt; one fourth teaspoon pepper; one half dozen soda crackers; one tablespoon butter; bread crumbs for rolling; deep fat for frying; one egg.

Mix rice, two eggs and flaked salmon together, season and add the lemon juice, crackers and one tablespoon of butter. Mix well. Shape in cone shaped croquettes; dip in crumbs, beaten egg and crumbs again. Fry in deep hot fat. Serve garnished with new peas.

DON'T LET COMMON CONSTIPATION DULL THE JOY OF LIVING

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Brings Relief

Constipation takes the sunshine out of your days. It may bring headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sleeplessness, sallow skins, pimples.

Fortunately, you can avoid this condition by eating a delicious cereal. Laboratory tests show that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides two things needed to help overcome common constipation: "bulk" and vitamin B. ALL-BRAN is also a rich source of blood-building iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of leafy vegetables. Within the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears out the intestinal wastes.

How much better than dosing yourself with patent medicines. Two tablespoonfuls of ALL-BRAN daily are usually sufficient. With each meal in chronic cases. If seriously ill, see your doctor—ALL-BRAN is not a "cure-all."

Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

PASSENGER CARS SHOW INCREASE IN FIRST PERIOD

Report of passenger car registrations for the first quarter of 1934 shows an increase over last year in number of registrations and revenue in every class except vehicles having more than 36 horsepower, which requires a $25 registration fee. Registrar Frank West announced.

This $25 registration class consists of the larger types of cars, such as Pierce Arrows, Cadillacs and Lincolns, several models of Chryslers, Packards, at least one make of Hupmobiles, Auburns and Studebakers.

A total of 1,163,413 passenger cars were registered during the first quarter of the present year, resulting in a total revenue of $10,404,177, an increase of 6.67 per cent in number of registrations and 8.10 per cent in revenue. In the first quarter of 1933, 1,092,475 cars were registered and $9,624,419 taken in by the bureau. The total increase over 1933 figures is 70,938 in number of vehicles and $779,758.00 in revenue.

Passenger vehicles requiring $20 license fees gained 27.32 per cent, showing that more people in Ohio are either using their large cars again or putting more money in new automobiles.

Motorcycle registrations picked up 4.88 per cent during the first quarter of the present year, 320 more being registered in 1934 than in 1933, bringing the total registration for the present year to 2,256.

4-H CLUB MEETS

The Buckeye 4-H club met at the Muhlenberg-twp school Wednesday. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mary Reid. It was decided by the club to hold a picnic at Logan Elm, Wednesday, July 25. Each member is asked to bring a basket.

The club had a visitor, Miss Alice Lacey of Marietta. The meeting adjourned until Wednesday, Aug. 1. Refreshments were served by Miss Gene Fullen. Mrs. Pinkerton was appointed on the refreshment committee for the next meeting.

CLEVELAND—Cleveland's Metropolitan Park system will be without any support at all next year. No appropriations for the park have been made. The system which embraces 10,112 acres and serves over 5,000,000 people yearly, was hard put to operate on a budget of $66,000 during the past year.

YOUNGSTOWN—"Texas Slim" Collins and his wife "Montana Nell" have purchased a house here and intend to settle down in a short time at truck farming after 30 years on the road. "Texas Slim" runs the Texas Wonder Show, which features bull-whip whizzes, western wonders and knife-throwing.

Insult Trial Date Set

SEVERAL months ago, Samuel Insull, Sr., was brought back from Europe to face criminal charges growing out of the collapse of his industrial empire. Much energy had been shown by the government in trying to get its hands on him. His arrest and return were accomplished at considerable public expense.

The circumstances called for a prompt trial and there was a general demand that the case be brought to a hearing promptly in order to satisfy the requirements of justice.

Dilatory steps of one kind or another immediately were undertaken by attorneys for the accused man. The result has been that the case has not yet been brought to trial.

Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson in Chicago the other day, however, over-ruled a motion for a bill of particulars, described as the last of the dilatory pleas, and fixed September 18 as the date for the trial to begin. The specific charge is that of using the mails to defraud, 16 others being accused with Insull.

The resourcefulness of attorneys skilled in dilatory tactics makes it still uncertain if the trial actually will begin on the date set.

Delay in the administration of justice generally is blamed as an important factor in the high rate of lawlessness that prevails in the United States. To permit the trial case to drag along unnecessarily would prove discouraging to those seeking to eliminate this type of time for the case to be disposed of. Judge Wilkerson will be rendering the ends of justice and rendering a highly valuable public service by seeing that the case comes to trial as quickly as fairness to the defendant will permit. It seems that his attorneys have had sufficient time to prepare their defense. If so, apparently there can be no justification for further delay.

The married seem like a team of horses. The thing that separates the team is the tongue.

Inflation Again

It is becoming increasingly evident that a new drive for currency inflation is getting under way, with a strong probability that the question soon again will be squarely confronting the President.

Mr. Roosevelt so far has been able to evade the issue or to escape its full force by making slight concessions to the inflationists. The latter, however, are not satisfied with any gains they may have made and are bent on winning a complete victory.

They are divided into two groups. One element wants the President to advance the price of gold around $35, its present peg, to $42, the maximum authorized by the congress. The other wants a huge issue of greenback silver certificates.

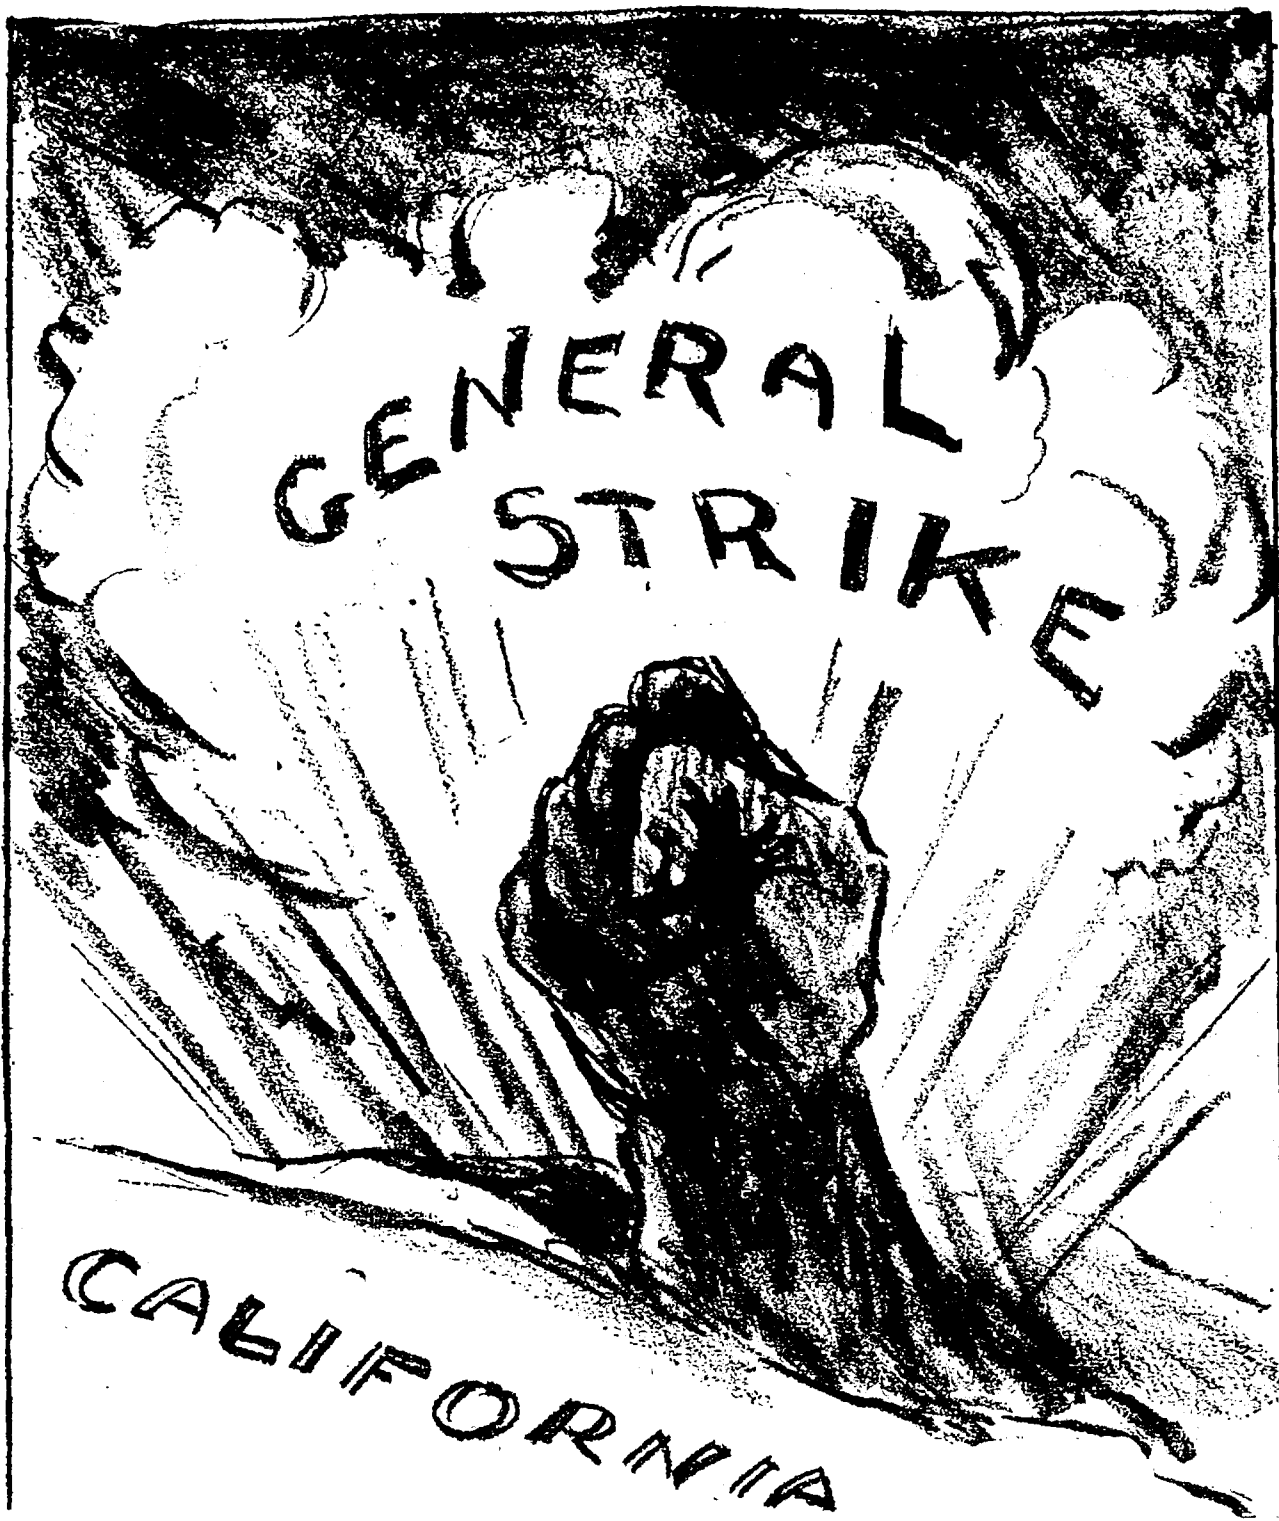

That the president is inclined to take neither step is a conclusion easily drawn from his failure so far to move in either direction. He apparently feels that both proposals are unsound.

This will not prevent their proponents from pressing their cause to the limit. What the limit may be remains to be seen. The administration's present monetary policy embraces many uncertainties. The inflationists can be depended upon to take every possible advantage of this fact. They are arguing now that the administration is planning to tie the American dollar to the British pound. The visit of Governor Harrison of the federal reserve bank of New York to London is cited as evidence, although there have been no definite developments to justify such an interpretation of his trip.

Revival of the inflation issue, should the movement reach formidable proportions would be bound to have an unfavorable effect upon business. A frank statement from the president indicating he had no intention of yielding and giving the reasons for his stand would prove a powerful counteractant to the inflationists' activities.

A philosopher says you can't take from the world any more than you bring in. This is especially true of your hair.

All Quiet on the Western Front?

"THE LONE WOLF'S SON"

by LOUIS JOSEPH VANCE

CHAPTER XXIX

As if waiting to be importuned, Plon held up on that, his head a little to one side, leaden features twisted by what Lanyard to his horror recognized as a twinkle of elfin mischief.

"Lord have mercy!" he groaned. "Have I come to this, then, in my old age? Is the Lone Wolf fallen so low that a policeman must be playful with him?"

"Monsieur is incredulous? That is not to be wondered at. It is asking much of him, truly, to believe that Plon of the Sureté has, toward the end of a career of unblemished integrity, turned thief—and not only that, but is proud of it! Very well; since you find what I tell you so difficult to credit, be so good as to observe here the damning evidence."

A theatrical flourish thrust beneath Lanyard's nose a ring of gold in which a great stone burned like a gout of dragon's blood—the Rajah's ruby!

"Name of a miracle!" Lanyard, starting back as if the ring had been a viper's head, could for the moment only gape and gasp. "Where did you find that?"

"In your pocket, monsieur."

"What new nonsense is this?" Lanyard harshly demanded. "What damned effrontery makes you say you found that thing in my pocket?"

"The best of all excuses, monsieur," Plon pleaded, still maddeningly arch and bland, "seeing that you, precisely, was where I found it last night, when I searched you in the outside pocket on the right side of the very coat you are wearing."

"And kept it to yourself!"

"In both senses—as you see."

"As I see," Lanyard, with a disgusted grunt, dropped back into his chair. "I see more than I see—but one thing clearly, that it amuses monsieur to make me the butt of some clownishness too thick for me to see through. 'Why,' he hotly demanded, 'assuming for the sake of the argument that you did find the ring where you say—why, then, didn't you display it, denounce me?'"

"One would think I must have had some motive," Plon plausibly agreed; "and monsieur will have none, is clear, of the explanation I have already hinted at—that untimely opportunity met a sudden outcrop of thievish instincts and turned a dull but honest detective into a devilish sly, nimble-witted, quick-fingered thief."

"My good Plon," Lanyard remonstrated, "for your own sake, try to bear in mind your limitations. As an agent of the Sureté you are trying, it's true, but at least comprehensible; as a comedian you are hopelessly miscast. Come, let us at the bottom of this stupidity. What is it all about? You know very well that that ruby was never in my pocket—unless, indeed, somebody placed it there to blacken appearances for me."

"Figure to yourself that that was my thought first."

Lanyard, in a wider stare than ever, sat bolt upright.

"But yes, I assure you, the minute my fingers met this trinket, I said to myself: 'It is planted evidence, my friend, that you have here.'"

"You, who have been snapping at my heels all the way over, said that!"

Plon achieved the effect of a snail at once acid and indulgent.

"Monsieur, with all his brilliance, has yet to learn, by what appears, that even a policeman can be fair-minded. It is not in reason that I should have forgotten that M. le Loup Solitaire was too astute by far to imagine he could ever escape him."

Plon paused for breath, and the exposure by asking for it. Consider also that I was for some minutes in the anteroom, last night, an unsuspected audience to your conversation, before I made my presence known: I heard what I heard and drew the only logical inferences. Would you have challenged those three to be searched when you knew the first dip into your pockets could not fail to locate the missing jewel? I may be all that the taunt implies, monsieur, when you call me policeman, but before that I am a Frenchman—that is to say one of intelligence, imagination, intuition."

"Let the world has in mind when it hears the name of Plon."

Plon waited a breath with head a little tilted to one side and an eye bright with malice cocked at Lanyard.

"I have taken so much of the

"If, then," pursued Plon, "I announce my find, nothing can save him, nothing prevent his being returned to France to be tried for his crime. On the other hand, if I insist I have found nothing, he will be held under arrest, and therefore secure from further attempts to punish or break him, till the vessel docks and I have had time to talk this ass of a Captain over. While if he is permitted to go free and land with the other passengers, he will, in little likelihood live to see another day. One knows too well the way American racketeers take with those who hinder or defy them. Give the man a chance, I said to myself—not only for his life, but for the life of a respected and self-respecting gentleman which has made for one who might have ended his time a common felon."

Plon paused for breath, and the stuffed Lanyard saw in the leer that played on his wizened mask something downright charming.

"Yet how to protect you without becoming one's self a thief? If I left the ring where it was, a second search, which the Rajah was sure to insist on, would certainly find it. There was nothing for it, then, but to steal it myself and deny all knowledge of its existence. Did I not say to begin with that you beheld in me a fellow-thief? And one, upon my word, monsieur, who knows not a single pang of conscience. I even, if you will believe me, know a little joy in the knowledge that his Highness the Rajah of Ladore has paid dear for his contemptible folly. As for this piece of stolen property, frankly, I date on it. I shall keep it as a souvenir of one of my most amusing adventures. But for you, monsieur, I have here something, I am sure, which you will prize above rubies."

He twitched the key out of the lock behind him, and with a handsome bow tendered it:

"The key, monsieur, to your freedom."

Knowledge of Vitamins Helped Conquer Scurvy

The Anti-Scorbutic Foods Prevent This Disease, Once Prevalent Among Sailors

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States senator from New York
Former Commissioner of Health,
New York City

MANY THOUSANDS of persons residing in and around New York took advantage of the opportunity to see the fleet on its recent visit to New York City. It was a stupendous sight. But the most impressive thing to me was the excellent physique and health of the men serving in our navy.

The culinary department of one of these battleships is surprising. The variety of foods available to the sailors and officers is in marked contrast to the conditions that existed in the navy little more than fifty years ago. In those days modern methods of refrigeration were not available and the canning industry had not perfected the preservation of foods. Few fresh fruits and vegetables could be included in the diet except when the ship was in port.

Because of this, scurvy, the most common vitamin-deficiency disease, was prevalent among sailors. For many years little was known about this strange malady. It afflicted persons in all parts of the world, but was most common among the sailors who were deprived of fresh fruits and vegetables.

The discovery of vitamins and the realization of the importance of fresh fruits and vegetables in the diet, resulted in rapid advancement in the treatment of this disease. It is now definitely known that a lack of fresh fruits and vegetables, especially the citrus fruits such as lemons, oranges, grapefruit and lime, leads to scurvy. These foods are known as "anti-scorbutic" foods. They contain a large amount of vitamin C, the vitamin that prevents scurvy and other of the deficiency diseases so often found when the diet is lacking in these substances. Even today the British navy furnishes a daily ration of lime as a means of preventing scurvy. This is an additional precaution, because the diet of the sailor in every navy includes plenty of fresh fruits and vegetables.

Was Common Among Infants

Unfortunately, many persons overlook the importance of the anti-scorbutic foods and fail to include them in the daily menu. This frequently leads to deficiency diseases. The most common symptoms are pallor of the skin, swollen gums and sensitive and loose teeth. The victim first complains of fatigue, loss of appetite, and is very irritable. If the progress of the disease is not stopped in the early stages, more serious symptoms occur.

Not so long ago this disease was especially common among infants and growing children. Now scurvy is a rare occurrence since citrus fruit juices are given children as early as the first month. For the young infant you may give strained orange juice or tomato juice.

Let me emphasize the importance and value of an abundant amount of fresh fruits and vegetables in your daily diet. Remember that many of the so-called trivial ailments may be the result of an inadequate and poorly balanced diet.

MOVIES

AT THE CLIFTONA

Although he writes the comedy patter used by Gracie Allen and herself, George Burns, of the famous team of Burns and Allen, featured in Paramount's "Six of a Kind," now playing at the Cliftona Theatre, never tries to get any laughs.

When they first teamed up, several years ago, Gracie went into the act to play "straight." But at the first try-out, the audience laughed only at Gracie and at the way she asked the questions, so George switched their roles, becoming the "straight" himself.

"Six of a Kind," they provide the disturbing element in a transcontinental auto trip, taken by themselves, Charlie Ruggles and Mary Boland. Detectives chase them, Ruggles being suspected of bank robbery, and they get into uproariously funny situations, complicated by a Nevada sheriff, played by W. C. Fields, and a Nevada hotel keeper, played by Alison Skipworth.

were given medical aid, before being taken to their homes. Mrs. Nora Barnes was injured in the side with broken ribs, Cecil May had a badly lacerated knee. All are doing well at this writing.

Mr. and Mrs. P. R. Grail, of Columbus and Mrs. Addie Hosler, of Circleville, were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Metzger on Sunday.

One thing seems certain in connection with failure of the government to specify "dead or alive" in offering $10,000 reward for the capture of Dillinger. That is that the officer who comes upon the outlaw will act as he would if the phrase had been included in the offer.

N. DAKOTA IS TENSE, 2 CLAIMING OFFICE

BISMARCK, N. D., July 20.—Extreme tenseness marked today's situation in Bismarck, where there are two governors claiming authority, national guardsmen on duty and federal troops at Fort Lincoln.

Developments hinged on the outcome of the attempt to get the state legislature into session under the call issued by William Langer, the governor deposed by the state supreme court. Langer was charged with soliciting federal relief workers funds for campaign purposes and sentenced by the federal district court to 18 months in prison and $10,000 fine.

The house, controlled by Langer forces, met yesterday and announced to both Langer and Acting Governor Ole H. Olson, who has peacefully taken possession of the governor's office, that it had met and was ready to do business. A committee of three from the house, of which Mrs. Minnie Craig is speaker, served the notice. Langer controls the house.

ONLY 19 SENATORS

But in the senate, there were but 19, at the most, of the 49 members present, and they did not organize under the special call.

Today Olson was in the governor's office, and Langer occupied the governor's mansion.

Following the dramatic "Return From Elba" of Langer, who had been in hiding in a cabin along the Missouri river since Tuesday, the Langer forces held a caucus in the Patterson hotel and declared they would have 26 votes in the senate when the session was called today.

Meanwhile, Adj. Gen. Earle Searles, in command of the national guard which Langer called out when he declared martial law, placed four guardsmen about the quarters of Acting Gov. Olson in the Prince hotel.

He did this after speakers at a meeting in front of the Patterson hotel suggested that Langer supporters should not throw stones at Olson.

Langer appeared before the meeting of shirt-sleeved, tanned farmers, and declared that they constituted "the greatest holiday association in the country." There was the sinister beating of an Indian tom-tom in the farmers' band that greeted him.

5-YEAR MORATORIUM

The "holiday" is a proposal for a five year moratorium on the foreclosure of farm mortgages and the drouth and farm mortgages are the causes of most of the grief in this huge state, which is so burned up that there are practically no crops west of the Red river and cattle are dying for lack of water and forage.

"Scrap of Paper"

The expression "scrap of paper" is said to have been employed as early as 1878, when on January 17 the Russian minister used it in a letter to the Rumanian foreign minister with reference to the passage of Russian troops through Rumania during the war with Turkey.

Still, every generation in the last 5000 years thought the world was going to the dogs.

The prisoners were taken before Police Captain John O'Meara but refused to answer questions.

They then were fingerprinted, booked as "vagrants" and held under $1,000 bond. In addition they were booked "enroute to Los Angeles" which makes it impossible to secure their release.

Ancient Stocks in England

Visitors to England passing through the village of Albury, Hertfordshire, a few miles from London, may see the old village stocks where vagrants, trespassers, poachers and ne'er-do-wells had their ankles pinned in a pair of ancient planks. Several could be dealt this cruel type of justice at one time.

"Aviator," Common Gender

According to a definition given by the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, the word "aviator" is a noun of common gender, meaning the pilot of a heavier-than-air craft. The word "aviatrix," therefore, is not necessary and does not appear in the list of sanctioned terms.

Finland's Timberland

Half of Finland is clothed with valuable timber. Railway locomotives burn wood instead of coal. In the days of wooden ships Finland held an important place in ship-building and on the seas. But with the steel ship dominating modern marine traffic, lack of iron ore has crowded the Finns from their once important place in general shipping on the oceans.

CLEVELAND.—Striving to continue Parma's unique record of "not a single school child hurt in traffic accidents in 18 months," 4,000 of Parma's pupils have pledged to obey all safety rules, stay off the streets and always be alert when crossing highways. Parma is a suburb of Cleveland.

Judge Frank Delay

OF JACKSON

Candidate in Republican Primary for

Judge of Court of Appeals

(Unexpired Term)

Over 29 Years Experience in Practice of Law—more than double that of any other candidate. Former Probate Judge of Jackson County.

Unanimously Indorsed by Jackson County Republican Committee:

"During his twenty-nine years of active and uniformly successful practice of law, involving hundreds of actual trials, and extending into nearly all the Counties of this judicial district, and into more than a third of the counties of the State, he has been deservedly recognized by judges and members of the Bar as one of the foremost lawyers of Southern Ohio. Although now in the prime of his life and activity, his wide experience in all branches of the legal profession has given him a ripened judgment and a practical and working knowledge of the law as applied to the affairs of men and women, which are indispensable to a successful Appellate Judge, and which can be acquired only through experience.

"We unreservedly commend him to the electors of the District as a man of unquestioned integrity, as a lawyer of exceptional attainments, and as being particularly qualified by long experience, and also by natural judicial temperament, for the position of Appellate Judge."

Unanimously Indorsed by Jackson County Bar:

"We take pleasure in attesting his extensive and accurate knowledge of both the theory and practical application of the law, and his uniform courtesy, fairness and freedom from prejudice.

"He is a deep student and a tireless worker; and has demonstrated through his many years of practice that he possesses a thorough knowledge of legal principles and that he is able to properly interpret and apply them. His natural attitude of mind is such that he gives full consideration to all sides of any question, and forms his judgments fearlessly, fairly and without prejudice. He has not for many years sought any public office, but the experience he has gained in the hundreds of actual trials in which he has participated has fully qualified him for service as an appellate judge.

"We sincerely commend him to the electors of this Judicial District as a man of long experience, absolute integrity, dignified temperament and thorough education, possessing a keen sense of justice; all of which ideally qualify him for this position."

League's Lead at Stake As Feeds and Oils Play

Disputed possession of first place in the recreation ball league at stake this evening as the Eshelman Feeds and the Circleville Oils, unbeaten in the second half, tangle on the Southern Ohio Electric Co. field.

The game was postponed from last week ago when a downpour of rain at 6 o'clock put the damper on the contest.

Both teams have won all their second half games to date.

CALLIHAN VS PURCELL

The game is expected to be a duel between Eddis Callihan, Eshelman special ball hurler, and Paul Purcell, Oil twirler.

The remainder of the lineups will probably be: Eshelman Feeds, J. Valentine, c; Fausnaugh, 1b; Tomlinson, 2b; Dewey, ss; Canter, 3b; J. Valentine, lf; Heeter, cf; Dahl or Dunkel, rf; Circleville Oils, Robinson, c; Geib, 1b; Merriman, 2b; Steele, ss; Walker, 3b; Barnes, lf; H. White, cf; Moore, rf.

The umpires for the contest have not been announced. They will probably be selected prior to the game.

Next week's schedule follows:

Monday: Given Oils vs. Mecca restaurant.

Tuesday: Eshelman Feeds vs. McClaren Meats.

Wednesday: Circle City dairy vs. Container Corporation.

Thursday: Purina Chows vs. Circleville Oils.

Thursday evening's festivities at the ball field resulted in some pretty sore spots this morning. Glenn Nickerson, Frank Lynch and others endeavored to get in a little exercise. They did much to the enjoyment of a crowd of bank-spectators.

Interpreters Needed

Villagers of Kormakiti, in Cyprus, descended from Maronites who fled from Syria during the Crusades. Their Arabic has since become so mingled with Greek and Turkish that now, neither Syrians nor Cypriots can understand it, and interpreters are necessary when the villagers trade with other parts of the island.

Alva Bradley, the king bee of the Cleveland Indian organization, took Stuart Bell, Ed Bang and Sam Otis, sports editor of Cleveland's leading newspaper, for a ride Thursday when he announced that Walter Johnson, peer of speed ball pitchers, had been re-employed for another year.

Since the Indians walked the New York Yankees to a victory the other day the wolves including the sports writers have been "on" the manager. The attack apparently provoked President Bradley just enough to have him give Johnson a new contract.

The Indians rallied in the ninth inning to defeat Boston Thursday. The score was 6-5 and Hal Frosky, Toledo graduate, provided the big blow a tripple with two on in the last of the ninth.

THE ALL-STAR-MILWAUKEE

Minneapolis game Thursday turned out as expected with the Millers winning 13-6. Joe Hauser provided the big blows with two home run smacks. Six Milwaukee men started the game for the "all-star" aggregation.

Serve Sandwiches With Summer Salads

With a summer salad, a sandwich is the completion of a meal at luncheon or supper. When it is unbecomingly hot, a formal dinner seems almost a jest, and light foods win favor with home-makers who manage efficiently.

A crisp hot cheese roll makes a delightful salad accompaniment. Cream soft yellow cheese with a fork, adding cream if necessary to soften. Spread on slices of bread, from which crusts have been removed. Roll up, fasten with a toothpick. Brush each roll with melted butter and toast under the broiler, or in the oven, until a light brown.

Jewel Sandwiches

Cut bread with a lady-finger-shaped cutter. Spread lightly with butter, and put two pieces together, one spread with jelly and the other with creamed cheese or peanut butter.

Chicken Sandwich Deluxe

1 1/2 C. diced ham 1/4 C. cream sauce
2 Tbsp. butter Salt and pepper
1 1/2 C. diced, cooked 1 egg yolk
chicken 10 slices toast

1/2 C. cream 1/2 lb. cream cheese

Cook the ham in the butter 1 minute. Add diced chicken and cream. Cook very slowly 3 minutes. Add cream sauce and seasonings and cook slowly for a minute or two. Add beaten egg yolk. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Cover a slice of toast with the chicken and ham mixture, add a second slice of toast and cover it with a slice of cheese. Place under very low broiler heat until the cheese is melted. Serve immediately, garnished with curly endive, sections of tomato and stuffed olives. Serves 5.

Salmon Salad

1 C. salmon 1 1/2 T. oil
1 hard cooked egg 1/2 C. cream
1/2 C. finely chopped 6 lettuce leaves
celery

Chop the salmon fine, then add the other ingredients and mix to blend well. Spread on buttered slices of whole wheat bread. Place a leaf of lettuce in between. Makes 6 sandwiches. Tuna Fish salad sandwiches may be made the same way, adding chopped sweet pickle or lemon juice to give an added tang.

For a Fruit Salad

Sandwiches with fruit salads should not be too sweet and cheese traditionally improves the flavor of a fruit serving. Mix 1 C. cottage cheese with 1 to 2 Tbsp. thick cream. Spread butter and cheese on thin slices of whole wheat bread. Chop prunes and spread on the other half of slices, and place with the cream spread half. One cup of prunes and one cup of cheese makes sandwiches for 8.

Ham and Egg Sandwiches—For Hearty Appetites

1 C. chopped baked ham
1 hard cooked egg, chopped
2 tsp. mustard mayonnaise
1 tsp. chopped onion
10 stuffed olives, chopped

Combine ingredients and add more mayonnaise to make proper consistency for spreading. Spread on slices of rye or Vienna bread with lettuce between.

Does Not Shed Horns

The pronghorn antelope does not shed horns, being the only member of the deer family that does not. These horns are hollow and attached to the skull by a bone core like domestic cattle. The texture of the horn shows a grain running lengthwise of the horn not seen in moose, elk or deer horns. These other horns attached to a button or lump on the skull which does not penetrate the interior of the horn.

Wed Thursday

The home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Acord of Ashville, was the scene of the wedding Thursday evening, of Miss Maxine Acord and Mr. Ervin F. Leist, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Leist, N. Court-st.

The ceremony was read by Rev. Newton Mantle, of the Methodist Episcopal church of Mt. Sterling, at 8:30 o'clock before an improvised altar of ferns, summer garden flowers and candelabra in the living room of the home.

The couple was unattended and only members of the immediate families were present.

The bride, an attractive brunette, wore a white ensemble with white accessories. Her flowers, a shoulder corsage, were biarrif roses and blue delphinium.

A reception for the wedding guests followed the ceremony.

Mr. Leist graduated from the Ashville high school in 1929 and attended Capital university and Ohio State university, Columbus.

For the past three years she has been music supervisor in the Ashville schools.

The newlyweds will be at home to their friends after July 30 at 327 E. Franklin-st.

UTILITIES GROUP PLEDGES TO CUT COSHOCTON RATE
COLUMBUS, July 20.—Aid of the state utilities commission to force lower gas rates in Coshocton had been pledged today.

Engineers of the commission, it was said, will be sent to that city in the near future to gather data on which the city council there will base a new rate ordinance.

After conferring with a delegation from Coshocton headed by Robert Kirkpatrick, a councilman, Chairman E. J. Hoople, of the commission, stated:

"I am inclined to agree that $1.50 is too high for the first 1,000 cubic feet of gas consumed in Coshocton."

The community is served by the Ohio Fuel Gas company.

Strike Highlights
SAN FRANCISCO, July 20.—Highlights of the strike situation: San Francisco—General strike ended after four days, and 71-day old waterfront strike reported well on way to settlement. All activities resumed in San Francisco except street car service partially crippled on Market street company lines.

Portland, Ore.—Gov. Meier orders natural guard mobilized as preparations made to open port. Senator Robert F. Wagner leaving for San Francisco hopeful general strike averted despite troop call.

Seattle—Police maintain lines about Smith cove terminals scene of rioting Wednesday. No threat general strike.

Fresco of 1540 Found in Wall
During renovating work in the Artushof (Court of Arthur) in Danzig, a fresco painting was found under a covering of boards. It is in gray tones and gold and shows the creation of Eve, the Trinity and the expulsion from the Garden of Eden. Experts ascribe it to about the year 1540. The Artushof was built in its present form in 1480.

of the greatest union cities in America, has been under pressure from a radical element who, in some quarters, are accused of having built up and engineered a comparatively small strike—the longshoremen's walkout—into a general strike that threatened the economic life of the community.

Radical ring leaders took a severe beating as a result of calling off the general strike. The peaceful settlement of the situation brought to an abrupt end all talk of "revolution."

Communists have been having a hard time of it for the past few days—and the end is not yet. Anti-radical activities by both police and civilian posses have progressed from spectacular raids on communist headquarters to relentless prosecution of cases on hand.

The situation on San Francisco's waterfront was watched closely by union leaders. Trucks have been busy along the waterfront, under the armed protection of national guardsmen, moving freight between piers in preparation for wider movements.

Union truck drivers view this situation with unconcealed concern. The Teamsters' union—of which the truck drivers are a part—held a stormy session last night and decided to hold a secret referendum ballot today on the question: "Shall the teamsters go back to work?"

Sentiment was strong against truck drivers doing any hauling to the docks while the Longshoremen's strike is still in progress.

RETURN RUMORED
Efforts to end the strike of longshoremen and maritime unions now hinge on arbitration. Today the waterfront buzzed with rumors that the longshoremen were ready to return to work pending arbitration. Waterfront workers who previously showed an uncompromising attitude showed indications of a lessened resistance as a result of the calling off of the general strike.

It was with a feeling of intense relief, bordering upon joy, that San Franciscans resumed the normal tenure of their ways today. No longer were citizens wondering where to find a good place to eat, a barber shop in which they could be shaved or a taxicab to take them to a destination.

The strange sight of men and women tramping to work in droves was over. Street cars were loaded with passengers during the early morning rush hours. Motorists who couldn't buy a gallon of gasoline within the city limits a few days ago chugged merrily along. Parking spaces again became crowded.

San Francisco, upon which the eyes of the nation had been focused, was normal again.

Donaldson Divorce
Charging gross neglect and extreme cruelty, Estella Donaldson of Ashville, filed suit for divorce in common pleas court Friday against Dewey Donaldson, also of Ashville.

Married Oct. 21, 1915, the couple has one daughter, Georgia, aged 17. The plaintiff asks custody of the child and reasonable alimony. A temporary alimony hearing will be held before Judge J. W. Adkins at 10 a. m. Saturday.

Harry L. Margulis, Ashville, is Mrs. Donaldson's attorney.

Use for Cellulose
The first chemical uses for cellulose were those where it was combined with nitrogen to form cellulose nitrate. By varying the amount of nitrogen, chemists obtained a wide variety of products. If a large proportion of nitrogen was used they obtained smokeless powder. With a medium proportion the quick-drying lacquers for automobiles and similar products were developed. Using only a small amount of nitrogen to large amounts of cellulose, the chemists produced celluloid for motion picture film, toilet articles and a multitude of molded toys.

The Carat
The carat, a measure of weight or fineness, is used by jewelers to express both. A carat weighs four grains or the one hundred twentieth part of a Troy ounce. In determining the fineness of a precious metal 24 carats is considered the standard of purity. Hence an eighteen-carat gold ring would be one containing 18 parts in 24 of pure gold.

American Indian's Health
The American full-blood Indian was entirely immune to rickets, largely so to cretinism and cancer, and somewhat more so than the white man to diphtheria, typhoid fever, mental and nervous diseases (excepting epilepsy), and various skin diseases; but he was much less immune than the white to smallpox, measles, tuberculosis, and influenza.—Literary Digest.

Points Farthest Apart
The two points in the United States proper that are farthest apart, according to the United States geological survey, are Cape Flattery, Wash., and a point on the Florida coast south of Miami, about 2,835 miles apart. The distance between West Quoddy, Maine, and Cape Alva, Wash., is 2,807 miles.

Waterspouts
Ordinarily, waterspouts occur only in tropical waters, for the reason that the air in the tropics is always warm and moisture-laden, and ready to condense upon meeting a sudden cool wind. However, waterspouts have been reported in the warm Gulf stream in northern seas. These spouts are believed to occur when cold wintry blasts from the land pass out over the sea and meet the warm Gulf stream. Waterspouts last only a few minutes and are believed to be not dangerous to a ship, even when the spout is directly in the path of the ship.

Ten Overworked Words
Ten words make up 25 per cent of our ordinary speech, say the lexicographers. They are: "The, of, and, to, a, in, that, it, is, I." Further, they estimate that the average person's active vocabulary, exclusive of proper names, does not exceed 3,000 words! The unabridged dictionary contains 400,000 words.
